Three held for torching MLA's SUVs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a swift operation, the South-East Division police arrested three persons who set fire to two SUVs belonging to Bommanahalli BJP MLA Satish Reddy in the early hours of Thursday. While the motive is yet to be established, it is said that the trio committed the act as one of them was not given an opportunity to meet the MLA on two occasions and they were upset that Reddy was not helping the poor.

The accused have been identified as Sagar (19), a resident of Garvebavipalya near Madiwala, Sridhar (20) of Begur and Naveen (22) of Bandepalya. All three are said to be unemployed.

City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant told the media on Friday that there were no clues about the accused, but the police conducted a detailed technical investigation and zeroed in on a bike that was used by the accused.

"The police teams had verified visuals captured by hundreds of CCTV cameras in the locality. It was found that the accused had escaped on a bike after committing the offence. The image of that visual was enlarged to get the registration number," the Police Commissioner said. CONTINUED ON: P5

B'luru may see weekend curfew, tougher restrictions after Aug 15

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WEEKEND curfews and tougher restrictions are likely to be back in Bengaluru after Sunday, to contain the spread of Covid, although a lockdown is not being considered for now.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said in Udupi that he will hold an emergency meeting with experts on Saturday afternoon and then take a decision.

, who is also minister in charge of Bengaluru, dismissed the probability of a lockdown in Bengaluru as of now but hinted that tougher rules could come into force after August 15. "We will hold a detailed discussion with the Technical Advisory Committee and review the present situation. Kerala has been witnessing a high Covid caseload. We need to take all possible steps to avert a third wave in the State," he said in Bengaluru.

Multiple meetings have been held and guidelines like restricting crowds during the festival season have been issued, he said. "Lockdown is not the only solution. It creates a lot of problems for people. We will have to take other possible steps to handle the Covid situation."

He said there has been no drastic rise in Covid cases among children in the State. "The government, however, is taking all possible steps to ramp up infrastructure, including setting up of new paediatric hospitals and training doctors to treat kids," he added.

'If situation allows, may open primary schools'

Even as Covid cases steadily rise in the state, the Education Department is preparing to reopen schools for Classes 9-12 on August 23. Should this materialise, the government may look at a September reopening for lower grades as well. Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh told TNIE that once the classes for older students begin, the department will wait for a week to review the situation, and the expert committee will take a decision on starting classes for primary students. P2

Taliban close in on Kabul, world on edge

Hectic parleys under way to negotiate a deal with the militia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE fall of Kabul looked imminent on Friday with the Taliban intensifying its offensive in Afghanistan by capturing four more provincial capitals – Zabul, Tarin Kowt, Firuz Koh and Logar – in a span of 24 hours. The fundamentalist Islamist militia has now encircled the capital and largest city Kabul and seemed to gain full control of the country much earlier than projected. It already has taken control over two-thirds of the country including Kandahar and Herat, the second and third largest cities. While Kabul has not directly come under threat yet, it could happen any moment.

Meanwhile, some media reports said hectic parleys are underway to negotiate a peace deal with the militia. But the Taliban maintains it won't come to the talks table until President Ashraf Ghani steps down. In which case, chairman of the High Council for National Reconciliation Dr Adbullah Abdullah may head a caretaker government to facilitate the transition.

With the situation remaining fluid, most countries have started evacuating staff from their embassies in Kabul. On Friday, Denmark and Finland joined the US, UK and Canada to pull out their personnel.

The US said on Thursday it would deploy 3,000 additional troops in a day or two to help evacuate its people from the US Embassy in Kabul. The UK, too, is sending 600 troops to speed up evacuation of its national from the country. Canada is also rushing additional forces.

India, which flew out its staff from the Mazar-e-Sharif consulate on Wednesday, said it has no immediate plan to close the embassy in Kabul.

With the dreaded Taliban closing in, thousands of Afghans have fled their homes fearing the worst.

Classes for lower grades likely to start next month

A week after reopening Classes 9-12 on August 23, situation will be reviewed: Minister

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

Schools and parents are demanding that offline classes be started for primary sections too

THE Education Department is getting ready to reopen schools for grades 9 to 12 from August 23, despite the rising number of Covid cases. If that materialises, the government may even look at starting offline classes for lower grades from September.

Minister of Primary and Secondary Education BC Nagesh told TNIE, "Once classes for older students begin, the department will wait for a week to review the situation, and the Technical Advisory Committee will take a decision on starting classes for primary students."

As for border districts, respective officers have been given the autonomy to decide depending on the situation locally, he said.

A top official, however, said that till now, there has been no discussion within the department on reopening classes for lower grades from September. But, schools and parents have been demanding it, he added.

Meanwhile, experts and different stakeholders are apprehensive about learning regression among students if schools continued to remain shut.

Welcoming the State Government's decision to open schools for grades 9 to 12 from August 23, the National Coalition on the Education Emergency, a body demanding reopening of schools that was set up in July, said lower grades too should restart by holding classes in the open or well-ventilated rooms.

"A large number of lower primary schools in rural areas have a strength of less than 50. Children who come to these schools are in the same bubble in the community and are already playing with one another outside their homes. These should be the first to be opened. Gradually, other classes should be opened with staggered resumption for different classes. A shift system too should be introduced for larger schools. In-person attendance should be encouraged, but not made compulsory, and children who are attending remotely will need to be provided with meaningful learning opportunities," the forum said.

Metro tunnelling work ends up flooding road, family evacuated

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

RESIDENTS living on 5th Cross, Shivaji Road, were in for a shock on Wednesday evening when water and slurry flooded half the street. A family of four residing on the ground floor was evacuated the same night and is expected to return a week later while a shop on the street has been closed.

Pressure applied on weak soil by the Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) Urja, drilling underground from Cantonment towards Shivajinagar, which forms part of the Nagawara-Kalena Agrahara Line, resulted in the slurry surging above. The leakage was stopped within four hours and Urja continued to drill with reduced pressure.

A fruit seller and his family residing on the ground floor had to shift to a relative's house. Their relative Noor Jehan said, "Water which flooded half the street on Wednesday entered a shop just next to the house. The sump in the shop overflowed and water reached their house." Visuals released on Twitter, show water entering all the rooms of the house with the furniture standing in water.

The family alerted the workers nearby and men deployed by contractor Larsen & Toubro and BMRCL staffers rushed to the spot and brought the situation under control. "They cleaned the entire street, including an overflowing manhole and are completely restoring everything inside the damaged house and shop," another family member said.

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez told TNIE, "The family preferred to stay with a relative instead of the accommodation we provide in such cases. After the TBM crosses the area, we will do a complete check of everything." The MD added that the incident occurred due to pressure in places where the soil is not strong.

14th August: We're moving into a Martial phase. What does this mean for us? Well, we can all get a lot done, because there's so much energy around, but it's all too easy to give in to impatience, irritability and recklessness. I would say that the best approach is to balance these tendencies by consciously developing virtues such as caution, patience and tolerance.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Delays or obstacles you meet over the next few days may hark back to something that took place at the beginning of the week. Perhaps you should get to grips with a personal issue that you've successfully avoided until now, especially if it concerns work or health.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
If the tide of fortune is turning in your favour you have only yourself to thank. It is natural that you should still feel uncertain about a number of personal issues, but there is no need for concern. Continue to keep your plans to yourself until next week, if you wish.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Although you find it easier than most to take a flippant and light-hearted attitude, Mercury, planet of communication, is pushing you towards deeper interests, and perhaps more spiritual attitudes. You see, you want to expand your mind, exploring new possibilities.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You're in a particularly ambitious mood at the moment, so don't expect to have a lazy weekend. One way or another you are going to have to put a great deal of effort into both personal and shared activities. Remember, though, that your health comes first.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
One thing you have learnt is that partnership and co-operation is not always a panacea. In fact, as you now know, the closer you get to other people the more likely you are to realise that their interests may not coincide with yours. That's why you have to meet them half way.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You have a deep affinity with Pisces, your opposite sign, one which may be surprising. You may develop this side of your personality by learning from close partners about emotional sensitivity and tuning in to your intuitions. Remember - the facts tell only part of the story.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
On a purely personal level you will enjoy proving that, although you may have remained on the fringe, you have kept up with everything that has been going on, and perhaps understood the real situation better than anybody. You have never missed a trick.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Mercury, the planet responsible for your mind, is edging towards a challenging relationship to Pluto, which rules your unconscious passions. In the first instance you can expect long-forgotten dreams or desires to resurface. And once they do, you'll be ready for the next, vital step.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Life is not always easy, but then it's not supposed to be, is it? But looking back you may find some of the week's events rather comical. The easier you find it to recover your sense of humour, the happier you will be. As the old saying goes, laughter is the best medicine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There's a great deal of uncertainty and secrecy about at the moment. You may have kept your emotions in check for too long. However, letting go doesn't necessarily mean giving other people a hard time. Instead, it should be your aim to make someone close feel loved and appreciated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The stars are lined up for a sociable weekend. Forget small gatherings and intimate liaisons - you'll be happiest mixing in large groups where you'll have the stimulation and excitement of meeting new people. In affairs of the heart you actually have to talk to partners - there's no point in expecting them to read your mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Financial worries may cloud the horizon. Perhaps you feel that a long period of good luck has come to an end. Others may have given up hope of ever achieving true prosperity. Don't worry, though - it's just a phase you're going through. All it requires is a redoubling of your efforts.

ACTIVE CASES DROP, BUT TREND REMAINS A WORRY

Steady increase in active caseload points to third wave coming in

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A BBMP marshal penalises a woman for not wearing a mask in Bengaluru

ALTHOUGH active cases have slid to 22,703 in Karnataka and 8,189 in the state capital of Bengaluru, the health department is especially wary about the "jittery" trends in the increasing numbers over the past few days.

With Kerala and Maharashtra recording a high number of Covid-19 cases, health officials are keeping their eyes on active cases, which have increased steadily from 22,569 cases on July 28 to 24,414 cases on August 5. Just when there was a decline on consecutive days after August 5, active cases again shot up on August 11 to 22,851.

Bengaluru, on its part, also recorded an increase in active cases on consecutive days between July 28 and August 3 -- from 8,176 cases to 8,986 cases -- and after a week of declining caseload, recorded a 1.12 per cent increase.

While the increase has been marginal, experts say it indicates that the second wave had not completely died down, even as the state is anxious about the third wave coming in. The worries of health officials and experts point to the two peaks of the first and second wave, respectively -- the highest number of active cases in the first wave was 1,20,929 on October 10 last year, while that of the second wave was a whopping 6,05,494 on May 15 this year.

While there is a big fall from 6.05 lakh cases to 22,703 cases, health officials are wary about another peak in active cases that could dwarf the second wave's peak.

Meanwhile, with 1,669 Covid cases that took the state's tally to 29,26,401, the positivity rate reduced from 7.23 per cent to 7.20 per cent.

There were 1,672 discharges in the day, which took the recovery rate from 97.95 per cent to 97.96 per cent. The mortality rate stayed the same at 1.26 per cent, even as 26 deaths took the state toll to 36,933. Active cases reduced from 22,728 to 22,703.

Bengaluru added 425 new cases, which took the city's tally to 12,32,220. The recovery rate stayed the same at 98.04 per cent, and mortality rate remained at 1.29 per cent, with five deaths taking the city's toll at 15,993.

BY September 10, India's Covid cases are expected to touch 32.8 crore (3,28,42,435) and deaths 4.40 lakh (4,40,220), as per an analysis by Jeevan Raksha. Karnataka's Covid figures are expected to touch 29.50 lakh (29,50,000) and deaths 37,470.

Some districts are worse off than others. The problem areas in terms of caseload are Bengaluru Urban, which added 24 per cent of the new cases in the state over the last four weeks, Dakshina Kannada, which added 18.4 per cent of the cases, then comes Mysuru, Udupi and Hassan. "Karnataka has to be ultra-careful and should not allow complacencies to seep in. Today, Karnataka has around 22,000 active cases. This is exactly at the same influx we saw right before the second wave swooped in the state in mid-March. In a matter of about just five to six weeks, Karnataka piled up 6 lakh active cases. The state government needs to have a separate strategy for Bengaluru Urban," said Mysore Sanjeev, convener, Jeevan Raksha.

As per their analysis, Karnataka's 28-day Moving Growth Rate (MGR) stands at 1.5 per cent and the MGR of all districts must be brought under this figure to avert the third wave. Districts with MGR higher than that of Karnataka, between July 12 and August 12, are Dakshina Kannada, Kodagu, Udupi, Hassan, Uttara Kannada, Chikkamagaluru, Chamarajanagara, and Shivamogga.

Sanjeev also pointed to the massive under-reporting of cases. In July, Karnataka reported 61,314 new Covid cases and 1,522 deaths. Astonishingly, 28,060 new insurance claims have been registered for Covid treatment in Karnataka, which means 46 per cent of them had health insurance coverage.

"The actual number of cases in Karnataka in July should have been around 1.75 lakh to 1.9 Lakh and deaths around 3,000," Sanjeev added.

Spike in cases a concern

ASHOKA reiterated that Covid cases are under control in Bengaluru, while deputy commissioners of all districts have been asked to take strict action in case of a spike.

Experts from the Technical Advisory Committee said that ministers should not focus on the situation only in border districts, but should also monitor Covid progress in Bengaluru closely. As a large number of people move from districts to Bengaluru, there is a high chance of a surge in the city, they warned.

"Any place reporting clusters should be immediately declared a containment zone and all possible measures should be taken to trace the infected contacts," a TAC expert said.

WHILE many Covid-positive patients suffered in isolation during the lockdown, a survey by MyGate Trust Circle revealed that 99 per cent of Bengalureans combated stress and loneliness with 'real relationships'. MyGate conducted a national survey to understand the impact of these changes on the 'Trust Circle' of an individual in 12 cities, including Bengaluru. Interestingly, Bengalureans voted for 'neighbours' as their preferred choice to rely upon.

The study also showed that 98.79% acknowledged that their relationship and dependence on neighbours, local vendors and support staff improved during the lockdown.

Abhishek Kumar, COO and Co-Founder, MyGate, said, "As many as 90.73% respondents in Bengaluru acknowledged "improved connect and dependability on the neighbourhood".

Bengalureans who spoke to TNIE agreed with the survey report. It showed 80.65 per cent Bengalureans now are more likely to be dependent on neighbours.

17th Annual Convocation of KIIT Deemed to be University

The times left behind and the ones those followed, in 2021, were a mixed bag of fortunes those went through a tremendous fluctuations. The year 2021 began with a sigh of relief after facing an unprecedented crisis in the previous year which had affected and impaired all forms of life and livelihood. But a few months into it, the time that descended was more devastating a wave that engulfed us in a way that we saw Covid-19 very closely. All of us witnessed the loss of some and felt proud of some those who fought but did not succumb. But amid the darkness there were glimmers of euphoria and that of the academics. An academic year that ushered in uncertainty and unpredictability and the disease grew more menacing and rolling out of vaccination.

Sparks In the Gloom

Amidst Covid-19, a natural calamity Yash, worsened levels of poverty due to lockdown and mental stress, the batch of 2021 have fared all with their perseverance and resilience. KIIT Deemed to be University, which is well known for its student-friendliness, compassion and humanitarianism, stood by its students like a rock and anchored them to success in such testing times.

Climbing On Rankings

In a very short period of time KIIT has been ranked 30th among Indian universities (overall) by the London based Times Higher Education, Asia University Rankings 2021 and 15th Rank in the General Engineering in the country, retaining its position among top institutions in India.

It is relevant to mention that KIIT was ranked at 251-300 in the THE World University Rankings- 2021. It is the first Indian University to achieve "Five Stars Rating" from the prestigious QS Star Ranking System. More significantly, KIIT has acquired an impressive rank in the band 201-300 in the overall impact ranking by THE Impact Rankings for its impact and efforts at sustainable development - Education, Alleviation of Poverty, Accelerating Peace, Gender Equity and fostering partnerships.

Outreaching Beyond Human

Notably, even during the pandemic, KIIT has been at the forefront of Odisha's war against the coronavirus. Kalinga Institute of Medical Sciences (KIMS), a constituent of KIIT Deemed to be University, set up four ultramodern dedicated Covid hospitals with over 2000 beds with the support of the Govt. of Odisha, located in Bhubaneswar and in three tribal-dominated districts of Odisha.

Distribution of food materials and other essentials to over 3 lakh pandemic-hit people and outstanding outreach to thousands of animals scattered over the city by providing them food during the pandemic were few praiseworthy work to go a long way. Community outreach activities of KIIT & Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS) strived to reach the hardest-hit and commonly overlooked people – transgender, sportspersons, physically challenged, sex workers, etc.

Prof. Achyuta Samanta
Founder, KIIT & KISS

Stand-out Positioning

In a stand-out positioning we are also the only educational institutions in India to provide Rs. 5,00,000/- (Rupees Five lakhs) as a token of assistance to the family of employee (who has succumbed to Covid-19) in order to alleviate his/her hardships to a little extent.

Besides, one eligible person from his/her family will be employed suitably in KIIT, KISS or KIMS depending upon his/her educational qualification. KIIT will provide free education to the eligible children of their family in KIIT. KIIT has a multidimensional reach and impact.

A Look through Window of Erudition

KIIT has immense contribution to Education, Healthcare, Sustainable Development, Literature and Culture, and more specifically Sports. KIIT Deemed to be University is the only varsity in India to have three of its students, (separate events) Ms. Dutee Chand, Mr. Shivpal Singh and Ms. C A Bhavani Devi represent in the same Olympics - Tokyo Olympics in 100m & 200m sprint, Javelin (Athletics) and Fencing (Sabre) events respectively. Keeping up with our past trend, KIIT is on its way to achieve record placement for the 2021 graduating batch due to the dedicated efforts of our training and placement department.

Our students have bagged 2500 single offers, 4000 multiple offers with the highest CTC of 30 Lakhs and an average of 6 lakhs. Even the School of Management has broken its previous records of placement. It wasn't an easy task to accomplish given the circumstances - trimming company sizes and lay-offs.

Besides Studies

Beyond The Normal

KIIT is the only University in India to have 22 Nobel laureates visiting campus and addressing the students. . To the Class of 2021, I completely understand that last thing that you want to hear right now is Stay Home. But still, one can be close to home and near and dear ones, not physically but emotionally. I urge everyone to pursue every ambition and dream and embrace the responsibility to build this community - your priority. I reiterate that remember one thing - you are and will always be kings and queens, like your hostels say, Kings Palace and Queens Castle. Go kiss the world.

NIA OFFICE MAY COME UP IN MANGALURU, HINTS BOMMAI

Says Home Minister has conducted two meetings in this regard, refuses to give more details

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday indicated that an office of the National Investigation Agency (NIA) may come up in Mangaluru. Talking to reporters in Udupi, Bommai said that the Home Minister has already held two meetings in this regard. "In the coming days, the Home Minister will visit the coastal city and review the situation. Later, we will sit together and take a decision. Some matters cannot be revealed, but we will take necessary steps in the future in this regard," he said. The CM visited Dakshina Kannada and Udupi districts to review the Covid-19 situation and headed back to Bengaluru on Friday.

Several right wing outfits, including the Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal, have been demanding a NIA office in Mangaluru to counter 'terror activities'. A few days ago, an youth from Ullal near Mangaluru was arrested in connection with a terror funding case by the NIA sleuths. Right wing groups had protested in front of the house of the arrested youth, who is a grandson of a former MLA. They had also tried to gherao the house and stressed on the need for a NIA office in the city.

In 2017, former CM B S Yediyurappa had promised to open a NIA office in Mangaluru within three months of coming to power, claiming that Dakshina Kannada was a sensitive district. He had also requested the Union Home ministry to open a NIA office in Mangaluru to investigate political killings.

Udupi-Chikkamagaluru MP Shobha Karandlaje too had written to the Union Home ministry on the issue. Bengaluru Central MP P C Mohan too had sought setting up of a NIA office considering the sensitivity of the coastal region in Karnataka, the repeated violent protests in Mangaluru and an incident of a live bomb being found at Mangalore International Airport.

However, in a written reply to P C Mohan in 2020, the then Minister of State for Home, G Kishan Reddy, had said that they have no such plans since Karnataka comes under the jurisdiction of NIA's Hyderabad branch office and the agency has a camp office at Bengaluru which also covers Mangaluru.

Months after polls, Raksha takes charge as state Youth Cong chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Raksha Ramaiah (third from right), flanked by Congress leaders Siddaramaiah, DK Shivakumar and others, after assuming charge as Karnataka Youth Congress chief, in Bengaluru on Friday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

AFTER months of confusion, dozens of meetings to ensure all leaders are on board and a compromise formula, Raksha Ramaiah officially took charge as the president of the Karnataka Youth Congress on Friday.

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar and Congress legislature party leader Siddaramaiah chose to keep aside their differences on their choice of candidates and were present at the event to congratulate Ramaiah.

The results of the Youth Congress presidential polls, which were announced in February, were marred by controversies after Mohammed Nalapad, who secured more votes, was deemed disqualified making way for Ramaiah to be named the chief. While Siddaramaiah — who had backed Ramaiah — was quick to congratulate him, Shivakumar — who had batted for Nalapad — had refused to acknowledge the results and pushed for Nalapad's disqualification to be challenged.

Following months of deliberations and back-to-back meetings with different factions of the party and its leaders, an agreement was reached to divide the tenure between Ramaiah and Nalapad.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Ramaiah said he will continue to hold the post until the party permits him and then hand it over to anyone the party deems fit. "The tenure is left to the party, but I have the next five months to strengthen the organisation. My plan is to raise the existing membership of the Youth Congress in Karnataka from six lakh to 50 lakh. We will have five members with official posts at every booth to ensure we fight the hate factory of the RSS at the grassroots level and not just on social media," he said.

Ramaiah has been tasked with the responsibility of preparing ground support for the upcoming local body elections as well as a network of young cadres to turn the tide in the party's favour in constituencies it lost in the last Assembly elections. "We intend to reach out to youngsters who will be first-time voters in the upcoming elections. Our target is to reach out to women voters in rural areas as well," he added.

Wary of protests over RT-PCR rule, CM cancels Talapady border visit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday cancelled his visit to the Talapady checkpost in Dakshina Kannada district on the Karnataka-Kerala border following intelligence reports that members of various political parties and other forums in Kerala were planning to protest and show black flags to the CM.

Bommai was to visit the check post as part of his two-day visit to the coastal district to take stock of the Covid-19 situation.

Tensions have been running high in the border areas following the Karnataka government's decision mandating negative RT-PCR report instead of vaccination certificate for commuters entering the state from Kerala.

According to police sources, Bommai's visit to Talapady would have added fuel to the fire. However, sources also said Bommai's scheduled visit had to be called off owing to lack of time.

Meanwhile, United Democratic Front (UDF) workers protested at the border wearing black masks against the Karnataka government urging Bommai to allow doubly-vaccinated Keralites to enter Karnataka without any hurdle. The protesters argued that the Union Government had urged states and Union Territories to do away with mandatory RT-PCR tests for fully vaccinated people who undertake inter-state travel.

UDF members protest against Karnataka's decision on mandatory negative RT-PCR report for travelers from Kerala, at Talapady checkpost on Friday

Meanwhile, Dakshina Kannada has been reporting over 300 Covid-19 cases each day for the last two weeks. The district administration has imposed strict measures following high daily positivity rate in the neighbouring Kasaragod district of Kerala.

According to sources, areas categorised as red category in terms of positivity rate are villages bordering Kerala.

Meeting with experts on reopening of schools

Mangaluru: Regarding reopening of schools, Bommai said that an emergency meeting of experts will be held soon. "We have decided to reopen schools based on experts' opinions. Another meeting will be held and then we will arrive at a decision," he said.

CM pledges to donate organs

Udupi: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has said that he has decided to register himself as an organ donor. Speaking to reporters in Udupi, Bommai said that on the World Organ Donation Day (August 13), he is declaring that he would pledge his organs for donation. "New age science has enabled this... where kidneys, heart, liver and other organs can be donated. Everyone should come forward and take a pledge to donate organs," the chief minister said.

JANASHIRVADA YATRA

BJP plans tour to introduce new Union ministers to people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP state unit will take up a "Janashirvada Yatra" from August 16 to introduce the four new ministers who were inducted recently into the Union Cabinet, to the people of Karnataka.

The BJP central leaders have directed the state units to take up such initiatives as Prime Minister Narendra Modi was not allowed to introduce the new ministers in Parliament. BJP state general secretary Siddaraju said the party has decided to take out the 'Janashirvada Yatra' in four teams for five days from August 16.

He said all programmes will be held following Covid-19 norms. While no big public programmes will be held, all events will be organised by taking into consideration the prevailing Covid-19 situation in the districts and the guidelines issued by the State Government as well as the local administration. The party has also planned the events in a hybrid mode as more people will be encouraged to attend the events online.

The four teams headed by the new ministers will cover 24 Lok Sabha constituencies and participate in 161 events. During the public meetings, they will talk about the Centre's initiatives and also visit Covid vaccination centres. The leaders will also visit houses of writers, artistes and senior BJP leaders and also the mutts, Siddaraju said.

Self-reliance in urea production

Union Minister of State for New and Renewable Energy, Chemicals and Fertilizers, Bhagwanth Khuba, said India will soon achieve self-reliance in urea production. "Four new fertilizer factories will start in the next few months and India will soon become self-reliant in urea production," the minister told reporters after visiting the BJP office in the city for the first time after assuming charge.

The Indian Farmers Fertilizer Cooperative Ltd has submitted a proposal to set up a nano-urea production unit in Karnataka. It will start operations after the State Government provides basic infrastructure, Khuba added.

Yatnal backs Anand Singh's demand for 'better' post

ENS @ Vijayapura

VIJAYAPURA City MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal on Friday lent weight to Ecology, Environment and Tourism Minister Anand Singh's demand for a different portfolio saying that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai should fulfill the latter's demand and treat him better.

Speaking to reporters here, Yatnal, a vocal critic of former chief minister B S Yediyurappa, backed Singh saying that there was nothing wrong in allocating a "better portfolio to him as he is honest and performed well as a minister in the previous Cabinet."

"When Singh was Forests minister, he solved the decade-old problem of tribals residing in forest areas by legalising their properties. He worked sincerely," he noted. Yatnal said that Singh played a vital role in bringing the BJP back to power in the state in 2019. "He was the first MLA to resign from the Congress-JDS coalition and join the BJP. He was the only legislator among the 17 MLAs who didn't migrate to BJP for money. Considering his sacrifice, the CM should give him a bigger portfolio," he said. Commenting on the dissent expressed by Hassan MLA Preetham J Gowda, Yatnal said, "He (Preetham) won the elections from the JDS-dominated region. However, I have no objection to Bommai paying a courtesy call to JDS supremo Deve Gowda," he said.

Shameful behaviour of Oppn in RS, says Kageri

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ASSEMBLY Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri on Friday strongly decried the unruly behaviour of the Opposition members in the Rajya Sabha during the just concluded session as irresponsible.

Speaking to the media, Kageri said the conduct of a few Opposition members was abominable. "The situation looked like "free for all" and absolute anarchy prevailed. Tuesday will be recorded as the darkest day in the history of Parliament and the chairman of the Rajya Sabha broke down in anguish," he noted.

"The shameful, painful and agonising incidents during those two days have made all right-thinking people hang their heads in shame," Kageri rued.

Reacting to Kageri's comments, Opposition leader in the Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge, told The New Indian Express, "Why did the government not allow a discussion on Pegasus for the entire duration of the session? Is it because the government is guilty?" He also termed Naidu's breaking down as "crocodile tears".

KPCC president D K Shivakumar said, "The Assembly Speaker speaking about the proceedings of another House is barred by the Constitutional concept of seperation of powers. Is the Speaker not aware of this?'

Will not allow closure of loss-making industries in Karnataka, says Nirani

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Industries Department has chalked out a plan to revive loss-making corporations in the state, Large and Medium Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani said on Friday after assuming charge.

Nirani, who was handling the mines and geology department in the B S Yediyurappa Cabinet, has been given the Industries portfolio in the new government headed by Basavaraj Bommai. Nirani said there are several corporations such as Kalaburagi Cement Corporation, MySugar and Mysore Paper Mills that are on the brink of bankruptcy and measures will be taken to revive them. Stating that he will not allow closure of loss-making industries, Nirani said that during his recent visit to Delhi, he held discussions with Union ministers on reviving such corporations and making them profitable. Nirani said they will set up an industrial township on 3,000 acres of unused land at Kolar Gold Fields in Kolar district. The State Government has urged the Centre to hand over land and the industrial township will be set up after it is handed over, Nirani said.

Nirani said land obtained from the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board must be used to set up industries and the government will not allow its misuse.

The government will ensure ease of doing business and give priority to create jobs, he said, adding they will appoint officials to be part of the Invest India scheme and provide all assistance to investors. During his earlier tenure as Industries Minister, Nirani had conducted the Global Investors' Meet. The previous Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar had announced holding a GIM in February 2022.

The officials should give priority to industries in the state and strict action will be taken against non-performers in the department, Nirani warned Industries Department officials, according to a statement from the minister's office.

No freedom from pension delays for freedom fighters

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

WHILE the country is gearing up to celebrate the 75th Independence Day celebration, several freedom fighters, who were a part of the freedom struggle, may have no reason to cheer as they continue to face delays in getting their pension (honorarium).

Shockingly, over 90 freedom fighters and their dependents in Mysuru district, who are entitled to receive ₹10,000 every month, had not got their pension since April. Ahead of Independence Day, the district administration cleared the files of several freedom fighters and credited the pension amount in their bank accounts. However, many others are yet to receive their dues. The freedom fighters allege that this rigmarole plays out regularly and said the government and the authorities remember them only during Independence Day.

Pointing out that the pension was not disbursed to all freedom fighters since April, the Mysuru District Freedom Fighters Association president, Y C Revanna, said the delay in crediting the pension had affected many, with their dependents suffering from health issues. "The delay in releasing pensions, especially during the pandemic crisis, had become a testing time for most of the freedom fighters who are dependent on it for purchase of medicines. Earlier, we used to get pension credited directly in our account from the state treasury. But, after the introduction of the new system, we are experiencing this problem. The government must look into the issue seriously and find a permanent solution," rued 94-year-old Revanna.

Another freedom fighter said the issue of pension and their other grievances are attended to only when Independence Day nears.

"Even last year, we did not get the pension for three months and the same thing has happened this year too. Now, many have got the pension, but a few others are yet to receive it. In a few more years, the freedom fighters' pension scheme itself may become obsolete as most of us would no longer remain. Until then, at least the government must ensure that the pension is credited to all in time," bemoaned a freedom fighter.

When questioned about the delay, Deputy Commissioner Dr Bagadi Gautham admitted that the problem did exist and said, "After I became DC, it has been addressed and the dues were credited in their accounts two weeks ago."

"There was a technical issue as it was moved from the old pension scheme to K-2, wherein the pension is disbursed by the district administration. I personally met a few freedom fighters on Friday and inquired about it while a few others had not checked their bank accounts as they could not venture out because of Covid-19. Some 10-20 cases are pending in the treasury and they will be cleared by Saturday evening or Monday morning," he promised.

'Frustrated BJP leaders commenting on Cong'

BENGALURU: Slamming BJP leaders for stoking controversies by making derogatory remarks against Congress and its leaders, KPCC spokesperson M Lakshman on Friday said that BJP leaders, especially CT Ravi and KS Eshwarappa, are issuing such statements out of frustration. "Eshwarappa wanted a plum post in the cabinet, but had to settle for RDPR. Ravi projected himself as CM and DyCM, but did not get any position. Since they cannot express their frustration against their own party, they are venting it out against Congress," he said. ENS

The Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the State Government to place on record the amount disbursed to caste-based boards and corporations and the amount spent by them. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order during the hearing of a batch of PILs questioning the establishment of boards and corporations by the government.

AS many as 809 petitions in the Karnataka High Court and 7,424 in the district courts were filed through e-filing facility, which was made available to advocates and litigants early last year.

The Registry placed a statement before a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice NS Sanjay Gowda, in response to the directions issued by the court in connection with Public Interest Litigation filed by Dilraj Rohit Sequeira and others.

According to a statement filed by NG Dinesh, Registrar (Computers), the High Court has taken the initiative to get staffers and Bar members of different districts trained in the process of e-filing cases.

It may be recalled that the e-filing facility was enabled in the Commercial Court at Ballari from January 20, 2020; City Civil Courts in Bengaluru from July 17, 2020; and at the High Court from July 21, 2020.

During this time, 317 advocates and 455 litigants (parties-in-persons who filed petitions on their own) made use of the e-filing facility at the High Court, and 1,991 advocates and 574 litigants filed the petitions through e-filing portal, as on July 13, 2021.

It was also stated that e-Seva Kendras have been established at the City Civil Courts Complex, Bengaluru Urban; and Commercial Courts, Bengaluru City and Bengaluru Rural District. Also, such centres are already functional at the Dharwad and Kalaburagi benches of the High Court.

VIP treatment for Sasi: HC tells ACB to submit probe report

The Karnataka High Court on Friday sought details of investigation into the alleged preferential treatment given to VK Sasikala, aide of former Tamil Nadu Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa, when she was serving a prison sentence in Bengaluru. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order, directing the Anti Corruption Bureau (ACB) to submit the details in a sealed cover by August 25, the next date of hearing. The bench was hearing a PIL filed by social worker and educationist K S Gita, from Alwarpet in Chennai. The petitioner sought the court to issue directions to the authorities to submit a final report on the case.

PANT said, "The police teams were searching for the vehicle to trace the accused. Around 7 pm on Friday, one of the accused was found riding the vehicle. He was nabbed and based on his information, two others were picked up. The accused are being questioned about their motive. During the initial inquiry, it was found that one of the accused had tried to meet the MLA on two occasions but he was not given an opportunity and this was also a reason for them to target the MLA. The background of the accused is being verified." Sources said the accused revealed that they were upset that the MLA, who moved around in luxury cars, was not helping the poor.

Meanwhile, MLA Reddy said that the three arrested youngsters are not from his area and suspected that they were used by those with vested interest to target him and others.

Couple held for running fake certificate racket

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE CCB police have arrested a couple over charges of issuing fake degree certificates to students. A preliminary probe revealed that they have provided such certificates to over 500 people, charging Rs 25,000-2 lakh for each.

Mukesh Uppal and his wife Ruhi Uppal, who were arrested, hail from Punjab. They were running an ITI on the city's outskirts. They had allegedly floated Sridivya Jyothi Education Trust in T Dasarahalli and were offering fake certificates from universities.

Police said after receiving information, they obtained a search warrant and raided four locations, during which, they seized over 200 fake certificates issued in the name of three private universities.

"It is found that people had approached them seeking certificates for BCom, MCom, MBA, BTech, MTech, and other courses in the name of Rabindranath Tagore University, Bangalore University and Kuvempu University. The couple are now into police custody," an official said.

Kerala to vax all with -ve report in sealed areas

State increases vaccination pace, administers record number of 5.35 lakh doses in a day

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

WITH the Centre pointing fingers at Kerala citing the heavy Covid case load and alarming infection rate, the state government has decided to test every individual in the containment zones and vaccinate all above 18 years with a negative certificate from Saturday.

The decision was taken at a review meeting chaired by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan on Friday. Interestingly, it came close on the heels of Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya's announcement that he would make his maiden visit to the state on Monday.

The meeting touched upon the criticism by the central delegation which recently visited the state — particularly about containment strategy, testing, home quarantine and vaccination. Health experts had opined that the spike in fresh cases is directly linked to the large number of susceptible people, who could be saved through vaccination.

The review meeting finalised the daily vaccination targets — 40,000 for 10 larger districts and 25,000 for the rest four. The chief minister directed the district authorities to utilise the doses allocated to them in a time-bound manner.

The state has also increased the pace of vaccination. It administered a record 5.35 lakh doses on Friday, beating the 5.15 lakh-mark set two weeks ago. The state has also started a special drive to give vaccines to all above 60 years and bedridden patients above 18 years before Sunday. It has covered 5.04 lakh people so far.

The meeting also decided to restrict gatherings ahead of Onam. Prior permission is needed to organise public functions while government offices should restrict Onam celebrations to arranging "pookkalam".

The CM directed the health department to create awareness to control Covid spread within families. Nearly 85% of the patients in the state are under home care. Though the model won praise for not having stretched the health system, it led to families forming clusters following the spread of the Delta variant of the virus.

Rank list for vacancies

T'Puram: PSC ranklists will be prepared in proportion to the actual number of vacancies, ensuring compliance with reservation rules, Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has said. He was replying to a submission by Ambalappuzha MLA H Salam in the assembly on Friday. The chief minister said the government would consider publishing the details of PSC appointments on a website.

Odisha-Andhra border areas tense as I-Day nears

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Jeypore

AS Odisha and Andhra Pradesh continue to be at loggerheads over Kotia, the Koraput district administration is likely to deploy police force in the disputed panchayat to avert any untoward incident during Independence Day celebration on Sunday.

For the last 10 days, the border dispute between the two states has heated up with rumours about AP's Vizianagaram administration planning to rename Kotia villages in Telugu on August 15 with support from political leaders of Salur doing the rounds.

Koraput district administration is likely to mobilise police force in disputed Kotia villages on the eve of Independence day to avert any kind of face off between the local leaders with their counter parts of Viziangaram district of AP.

Though the Koraput administration denies having ground reports on renaming of Kotia villages in Telugu, sources said it wants to keep the issue under wraps to prevent unnecessary flare up between leaders of both the sides. Recently, senior Congress leader and Jeypore MLA Tara Prasad Bahinipati had announced that they will give a 'befitting reply' if the AP dares to indulge in illegal activities in Kotia. Pottangi MLA Pitam Padhi too had said none from the neighbouring State's administration or political party will be allowed in Kotia.

Following the warning of Odisha leaders, politicians of neighbouring Vizianagaram and Salur have threatened to file FIR for such remarks, thereby aggravating the situation.

Sources said the Koraput administration is expecting presence of political leaders along with their supporters in the disputed areas on I-day and a possible face-off with local villagers.

Aane Mane jumbos to be set free

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madikeri

PRINCIPAL Chief Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) and Chief Wildlife Warden of Karnataka has passed an order to confiscate the seven elephants owned by Aane Mane Foundation in Dubare near Kushalnagar. The seven elephants have been ordered to be radio collared by the foundation and will later be translocated to the elephant camps at Bandipur and Nagarahole.

The notification dated August 12, 2021 states that the Kodagu Circle Conservator of Forests had submitted a report on the captive elephants owned by Prajna Chowta of Aane Mane Foundation near Dubare, stating that the elephants frequently raided crops and posed threat to the lives of locals.

It mentions that several complaints from villagers, police department, Sirangala Gram Panchayat and Somwarpet Taluk Panchayat have been received against the foundation's captive elephants and no effective measures were taken by Prajna to control the conflict. A final notice in this regard is said to have been forwarded to Prajna on June 5 by Kushalnagar RFO even as the former is said to have agreed to radio collar the elephants and translocate them to forests. The notification also states that the ownership license of two elephants - Hiranya (43) and Mala Devi (34) have not been renewed by Prajna since 2002.

However, an official order in this regard has now been passed by the PCCF.

TN BECOMES FIRST TO SLASH TAX ON PETROL, MAKES IT ₹3 CHEAPER

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

WHEN the DMK government fulfilled its promise of reducing the effective rate of tax on petrol by ₹3 per litre, Tamil Nadu became the first State to do so in 2021. As the State exchequer faces a fall in revenues, the move will result in a loss of revenue of ₹1,160 crore a year.

"The tax reduction is being done on the instruction of Chief Minister MK Stalin," said Finance Minister Palanivel Thiaga Rajan while presenting the first Budget of a DMK government under Stalin.

Clearly, Thiaga Rajan has attempted a balancing act, amid the rising fiscal troubles on one side and DMK's poll promises on the other. Despite the anticipation created by the White paper on the State's finances, there were no tax or price hikes.

On the poll promise of ₹1,000 financial assistance for each family, it was revealed for the first time that the scheme is only for the poor, and hence a mechanism will be introduced to identify eligible ration card holders.

Rajan said the DMK government will again submit a Budget six months from now. He promised that the new Budget would deal with reform measures that will go a long way in stabilising the financial position of the State, adding that he was forced to stay away due to the pandemic. So, the March 2022 Budget might have more to look out for.

Friday's speech from the finance minister delivered many messages. One of them is the nerve to stand for principles of federalism. Rarely do State finance ministers announce a council to frame a model to tell the Union government what federal fiscal model it should follow. Rajan did that, and citing a CAG report, openly accused the Union government of failing to spend the cess collected for the purpose it was meant for.

Tamil pride is another cornerstone of the Dravidian movement, and that too was not missed. There was a special attention given to archaeological excavations and other allocations towards Tamil language development.

An assuring undercurrent in the finance minister's speech was the push towards greater transparency in governance. Many of the promises reflected the idea of using technology towards transparency and to quantify the results of governance. A dedicated e-portal for all procurements by the State government was one such.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government is planning to train at least 100 sportspersons so that they qualify for the 2024 Paris Olympics, said Sports Minister K C Narayana Gowda on Friday.

"We have already identified 35 sportspersons and Rs 5 lakh each will be allocated for their training," he told reporters and also invited suggestions from the public. On reservation for sportspersons, Gowda said there is a two percent quota for them in the police, which will be extended to other departments.

Karnataka is hosting the second edition of Khelo India university-level games at Sree Kanteerava Stadium in Bengaluru from March 5, the minister said adding that Prime Minister Narendra Modi will be invited to inaugurate the 12-day event.

He also said a Sports Science Centre has been established at Kanteerava Stadium and another one will be set up in Mandya.

On the occasion of 75th Independence Day, five women from Karnataka -- Pushpa from Madikeri, Aiyshwarya and Dhanalakshmi from Shivamogga, Asha from Bengaluru and Bindhu from Mysuru -- will take part in the 'Mountain to Ocean' expedition. The team will climb Kolahoi Peak in Kashmir, and the cycle to Karwar and then take kayak from Karwar to Mangaluru, all in 45 days.

PRIVACY CONCERNS LOOM AMID APPLE'S USER POLICING PLAN

It's been a curious time for Apple. The multinational tech company prides itself on its commitment to ensuring the privacy of those who use its array of high-end devices. Yet, if the Pegasus scandal exposed a key vulnerability to hacking in the company's products, its latest announcement has raised concerns. Apple recently announced that its updates later in the year would work on protecting children from Child Sexual Abuse Material (CSAM) while also scanning its users' devices for such material.

CSAM refers to media content—images or videos—in which a child is being sexually abused or assaulted. The material not only documents the sexual violation and victimisation of a child, but also perpetuates it. Organisations like the US-based National Center for Missing and Exploited Children work to scan CSAM in circulation through sophisticated software and take down the material. While most major tech companies like Facebook already scan their user images for such content, Apple has only now proposed new initiatives to address this serious issue. However, Apple's solution may well create new problems.

Of the two significant changes Apple proposes, the first involves a notification to young children when they might be exposed to sensitive material on iMessage, saying it will inform the child's parents to check on them. The second would involve Apple scanning images on a user's device (if iCloud is activated) and raising tokens when one of them matches known CSAM. If a certain number of tokens are raised, the material will be reviewed by a person who may then alert the authorities. While the moves certainly seem well-intentioned, the question arises: What is to stop Apple from using this backdoor access to data to expand its reach? What is to stop it from becoming a dictator's tool? After all, despite its averred commitment to privacy, Apple has accommodated the requests of an authoritarian China with alacrity. It is among a handful of companies along with Twitter and Facebook through which vast powers have been concentrated in a few billionaires. Democracies must become more agile in anticipating and fending off challenges these entities may inflict on individuals, institutions and states.

BETWEEN ECOLOGY AND DEVELOPMENT

The mandarins in the Telangana government have been stuck in a dilemma over where to draw the line between development and environment. Take for instance the two major lakes in Hyderabad's outskirts: Osman Sagar and Himayat Sagar. Though GO 111 that proscribes construction in their catchment area has existed for years, a committee of officials was constituted to examine its relevance in the wake of pleas for its annulment as the two lakes have ceased to be drinking water sources for Hyderabad and development in 84 villages in the catchment area was suffering on account of the ban. Though the committee met 28 times during the last four-and-a-half years, it could not come to a decision, which has annoyed even the Telangana High Court that recently asked the government why this was taking too long.

At KBR National Park in Jubilee Hills, which happens to be a major lung space for the residents of Hyderabad, the government is facing a similar problem. It wants to develop roads around the park under the Strategic Road Development Plan to end traffic problems. For doing so, it has to cut down trees, which it has already started after the Centre renotified the eco-sensitive zone of the park in favour of the state government. In the see-saw battle between environmentalists and the government, the High Court recently issued interim orders to stop the felling of trees.

It is not as though the state has over time become an enemy to the environment. Various departments of the government have developed a number of verdant parks with aesthetic appeal in and around Hyderabad for residents to relax in the evening hours. And in full swing is Haritha Haram, a programme to improve green cover and restore ecological balance to the extent possible. The Forest Survey of India, in a recent report, has said that there is a 3.6% increase in forest cover since the formation of Telangana in 2014. The state, however, has to use wisdom and discretion when development threatens the environment. It should ensure that the least damage is done either way when a decision is taken.

We should proceed cautiously and not move too hurriedly and slip again. We should carefully open up in small steps, lest the third wave pull us down

As we continue to test our strength against SARS-CoV-2 in what appears to be a prolonged tug of war, yielding ground in some months and gaining ground in others, I was curious to check what winning tactics are recommended in the real sport. Having rather feebly participated in a picnic game in school days, I had no clue other than to believe it was mostly about strength. However, there must be strategies that help some teams beat opponents who have more muscle. So, I turned to Google to get enlightened by tips from those who took it seriously.

Three key messages were conveyed by the experts: (1) Keep your strongest player at the back, to hold ground firmly without falling when the opponent is tugging vigorously; (2) When you think you are in a position to win, take small baby steps backward, for you are very likely to trip and fall if you suddenly take huge steps and (3) Teamwork is important, for everyone should pull at the same time. The winner overcomes the opponent only by exerting a greater force that is distributed both on the rope and on the ground. The tension on the rope and the friction force on the ground are opposing forces, the balance of which decides whether you win or lose. So, the winning strategy has to combine both the resolve to hold your ground against the adversary on firmly planted feet and use of upper body strength to steadily wear them down.

How do these tips apply to our test of strength against the virus? We should position our strongest and most resilient at the back of the line for vaccination, because they can hold the ground much better than others. We did that from January to April this year, by prioritising the age group above 45 years of age for early vaccination and keeping the younger age group for later. We then suddenly decided to open vaccination to all adults above 18 years of age, even as the virus was vigorously imposing its strength on us. That caused confusion in the strategy, with even the head of the national Covid Vaccine Working Group, Dr N K Arora, saying later that he was not in favour of the decision to open up vaccination to all age groups without fully covering the most vulnerable.

Even as we exerted our strength against the virus through vaccination, we needed to hold ground firmly by adopting Covid-appropriate behaviour and preventing slippage through superspreader events. We did that fairly well in 2020. However, we thought we were firmly grabbing victory in January 2021 and took big steps too suddenly by fully releasing ourselves from restrictions. We were befooled by spectators shouting that herd immunity had already given us the power of guaranteed victory and urging us to move fast. We slipped and stumbled into a second wave that the virus had dragged us into. We lost ground because of overconfidence and haste. Now that we have regained some ground, we should proceed cautiously and not move too hurriedly and slip again. We should carefully open up in small steps, lest the third wave drag us in the other direction.

> We took big steps too suddenly by fully releasing ourselves from restrictions. We were befooled by spectators shouting that herd immunity had already given us the power of guaranteed victory

During the first wave, we exhibited good teamwork. There was coordination between the Central and state governments, resulting in a synchronised response. During the second wave, that harmony was missing. People too responded in different ways; some continued to practice prudent precautions while others completely cast caution to the winds and behaved recklessly. With all the team members pulling in different directions without coordination of effort and timing, the virus could not be offered resistance as it came supercharged with the strength of new variants.

As we prepare for the third wave, we need to exert our power against the virus through the vaccines. That upper body strength has to be provided by the government, which takes policy and implementation decisions on vaccine production and distribution at the higher level. The two hands that must pull together are the Central and state governments. That coordination will help us to destabilise the virus and make it cede ground. The lower body strength, required for us to remain grounded and stable during this whole effort, is that of Covid-appropriate behaviour by the people. That will protect us from the pull of the virus.

These are the simple lessons I got from the tactical guide to the game of tug of war. They seem suitable for adoption in our strategy to combat the Covid pandemic. In the game, victory is declared when the white mark on the rope crosses the central point separating the teams. Perhaps the white mark for us is a vaccination coverage of 80-85%. So, let us pull with vigour, while standing strong and steady on the legs of Covid-appropriate behaviour.

TOOTHLESS ANTIQUITIES ACT & CLUELESS CUSTODIANS

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-Founder, India Pride Project, and author of The Idol Thief

Let us look at an important case that shows how weak our existing law on antiquities theft is. The case also shows how the highest officials of the Archaeological Survey of India didn't do their duty properly and thus failed to prosecute heritage criminals—who then use it to build a virtual cheat sheet based on the precedent.

The case is State vs. Bhuwan Chand Josh, etc. On 9 May 2010, the Delhi Police received information about a murthi being moved in a Maruti car (colour and number included). They pursued the lead, put up barricades and stopped the said car. When the person in the back seat started running, they apprehended him as well as the man who was driving the vehicle. Bhuwan, who was in the back seat, had a bag that the police found had "one idol of Lord Vishnu and Lord Shiva having four hands". The idols were seized and an FIR was registered.

The police then requested the ASI for a report about the idols. According to the judgment, Dr Urmila Sant, Director, Antiquity, ASI, "examined the object with the help of a committee of experts at her office and prepared a detailed report regarding the said object". The judgment adds that Mohammad K K, Retired Director (North Zone), ASI, "deposed that ... he examined the antiquity and told him (the police inspector) that he can only give his opinion as to whether the same is an antiquity or not and the final declaration will be made by a panel of experts appointed by the Director General of ASI. He further deposed that on examination, the antiquity in question, which is an idol of either lord Shiva or lord Vishnu was having a Kirita Mukuta and in one hand a bowl ... and also having a Trishul, appeared to him as six hundred years old ... . The said witness has also opined about the value of the said antiquity as ₹5 crore."

But both the accused were acquitted and cleared of all the charges! So why did this seemingly open-and-shut case fail?

1) The only penalising part under the Antiquities and Art Treasures Act, 1972 (AAT) is Section 25 and the accused were booked under its Subsections 1 and 3 i.e., attempt to export and preventing a licencing officer from inspecting an antiquity.

In this case, no export documents were found and the seizure was by the police and not the ASI officer. The only other section available was Subsection 2 of Section 25, which is about attempting to sell an antiquity without licence or being in possession of an antiquity without registration.

2) Further the points raised by the court on how the idols were determined to be antiquities, who has the authority to do so and how the loopholes in the AAT allowed the case to fail are important. Section 24 of the AAT vests the powers of determining whether an idol is an antiquity with the director general of the ASI, or an officer not below the rank of director but authorised by the DG. However, the DG of the ASI currently doesn't need to have an archaeological background. Hence he/she ends up delegating the powers to the DG Antiquity, who in turn delegates it to a committee.

a) This case highlights the pitfalls of this in the DG's own words: "It is true that I only signed the detailed report ... after obtaining the verbal consent of all the committee members. I do not know what is the difference between asth dhatu and bronze. The committee has not done scientific analysis/forensic examination of the case property. On the basis of observation of the art pieces, the experts draw a conclusion on whether any particular art piece is an antique or not."

> On 9 May 2010, the Delhi Police received information about a murthi being moved in a Maruti car. When the person in the back seat started running, they apprehended him along with the idols that he was carrying in a bag. A three-member expert committee certified their antiquity and a top ASI expert told the court that one of the idols was 600 years old. Yet, in this seemingly open-and-shut case, the accused were acquitted

b) Further the other expert witness, Mohammad K K, "has not been even able to state whether it is a statue of Lord Shiva or Lord Vishnu", the judgment said. The witness had said: "I examined the antiquity in question that is an idol of either Lord Shiva or Lord Vishnu. It appeared to me as 600 years old, hence I opined that it is an antiquity. ... It is true that my opinion is not on the basis of scientific method. It is on the basis of stylistic method."

3) The judgment also cites a rather strange argument: "The specific words of provisions (of the AAT) inter alia are 'The Central government may from time to time by notification in the Official Gazette specify those antiquities which shall be registered under this Act.' The words used are 'may from time to time' meaning thereby that there should be a specific notification prior in time regarding the article sought to be described as an antiquity. Then under Section 14 (3) of the Act, it is provided that 'every person who owns, controls or is in possession of antiquity specified in the notification under sub section (1) shall register said antiquity within the time provided'. In the present case, as there is no notification in respect of the artifact, the accused were not liable to get it registered."

4) It was also held in the said case that before a person could be expected to account for possession of an article, it must be established that there is a reason to believe that the same is stolen property.

Thus in the above case, despite a public seizure, an attempt to run away with a murthi on the scene, a three-member expert committee ruling on its antiquity and an expert calling it 600 years old, the two accused did not serve even the minimum six month sentence for non-registration of antiquities.

This makes for sad reading and reinforces what we have been saying for long: that the AAT is a toothless act. Here are some lessons from the above case. 1) India urgently needs to legislate a clearer and importantly tougher Act with stringent penalties to tackle rampant heritage crimes, not dilute the existing law by listening to the idol collecting lobby. 2) Law enforcement needs to be put through better capacity building and sensitisation exercises to combat heritage criminals. 3) The Centre needs to invest in building academic and research capability in institutions to bring in more accurate tests for dating antiquities and increase awareness about conservation. One hopes that the new Indian Institute of Heritage, which the government earlier this week announced it would set up in Noida, would be the first of many institutions to address this crying need. 4) The government and the ASI need to seriously consider forming expert panels with members who are not just experts, but also committed to the cause of heritage conservation and willing to sign disclosures over conflict of interest, etc.

(The India Pride Project's #BringOurGodsHome initiative has helped bring many stolen idols back to our country)

Setbacks make it stronger

ISRO failing to put its state-of-the-art Earth Observation Satellite into orbit is sad, but we must not lose heart. The satellite suffered a technical anomaly at the cryogenic stage. The failure has come as a jolt to ISRO, whose cryogenic engines have fared better than those of Russia and the European nations, but one is sure this setback will make it emerge stronger. Failure is only a stepping stone to success.

N J Ravi Chander, Bengaluru

Don't lose hope

Let the super brains at ISRO not lose hope due to the failure of putting the EOS-3 into orbit. While it would certainly be heartbreaking for the scientists who worked hard to send it to space, we must not forget that failure teaches us to do better in future.

Denting co-op credibility

This is with reference to Audit, monitor Kerala's co-op banks (Aug 13). In Kerala, the Primary Agriculture Cooperative Societies touch the lives of rural people in a significant way. But the Karuvannur fraud and others have dented their credibility. In the larger interests of society, bylaws should be amended and the regulation of such banks be entrusted to an independent institution.

UP polls deciding factor

This is with reference to What's cooking in Nitish Kumar's political cauldron? (Aug 13). There are so many factors beckoning the Bihar CM to the opposition camp. His fears that his ally, the BJP, may ultimately swallow him is similar to that of the Shiv Sena's in Maharashtra. As the editorial points out, the UP election results would be the deciding factor.

Leadership not about age

This is with reference to Lessons the country can learn from Odisha (Aug 13). Leadership is not about age but about influence, impact and inspiration. True to this, the spectacular achievements of Odisha CM Naveen Patnaik like clean drinking water from the tap, sponsoring both the Indian hockey teams since 2018, immaculate disaster management, etc., speak volumes about him. The leaders of other states should take a leaf out of his book.

Is she a good successor?

The written reply by Kerala Health Minister Veena George that the government had not noticed any increase in the attacks on doctors and health workers shows her casual approach on such matters. The minister should have exercised more caution while responding to the questions about the increased attacks. She has to prove that she is a good successor to former health minister K K Shailaja, whose services were widely appreciated.

TN fuel price cut welcome

The Tamil Nadu government intervening and reducing the price of petrol by ₹3 per litre is welcome. The government announced in its Budget that it had decided to cut fuel taxes. Other state governments can also follow in TN's footsteps. Reducing the price of fuel helps the common man with his economic burdens.

Opposition unity sounds good but tough to achieve

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

THE monsoon session saw bonhomie among Opposition parties. However, continuing that camaraderie outside Parliament appears to be a Herculean task because some of these parties are engaged in direct fights in key states. Plus, many regional leaders have national aspirations and issues like Pegasus spyware that united them may not resonate on the ground to as far as electoral fortunes are concerned.

TMC's recent win in West Bengal Assembly elections has led Opposition parties to think of forming a united front against BJP. There were a number of meetings of Opposition leaders in the last two months. West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, NCP chief Sharad Pawar gave an open call to the Opposition to unite and keep aside personal egos to take on the Modi government in 2024.

The monsoon session witnessed these parties coming together to corner BJP on the Pegasus, farm laws and price rise issues. But Opposition leaders feel they need a long-term strategy to take it to the next level, now that the Parliament session has ended.

"Unity in Parliament on certain issues is different from having a larger understanding among 14-16 parties. We have to see how it can be taken forward. We need a solid plan to continue this cooperation on the ground. It is too early to look at it from a view of having an electoral understanding. Several senior Opposition leaders have talked about it, but as of now, it is still very fluid. It needs to be addressed with top priority," said a senior Opposition leader.

Faultlines in Opposition ranks came to the fore the day after the monsoon session endedm, with TMC questioning the 'big brother' attitude of Congress. Both TMC and AAP were absent from a rally called by Rahul Gandhi to protest against what happened in Parliament.

"It can't be that someone calls and says come over... We need to talk to our leaders before making a decision. Trinamool is with the Opposition, but there is a way to do it," said TMC MP Saugata Roy.

While Opposition parties agree that a non-BJP front is not possible without Congress, the grand old party's attitude in dealing with regional parties, even in states where it is a junior partner in alliance governments, has been questioned. "Congress has to allow the regional parties to take the lead in states they dominate while it takes on the BJP in states where it is in direct fight," said a regional party leader.

OUTSTANDING PARLIAMENTARIAN AWARD TO BE GIVEN TWICE A YEAR

The Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Friday said the 'outstanding Parliamentary award' will now be given twice a year. He also stated the award for last three consecutive years would be conferred on the Best Parliamentarian this year. Biju Janata Dal MP in Lok Sabha, Bhartruhari Mahatab was given the Best Parliamentarian award for 2017. Birla said the awards for 2018, 2019 and 2020 would be given this year. At a time Opposition MPs troop into the well of the House in both Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha, BJD along with the Nationalist Congress Party are known to stay away from reaching the reporters' table in front of the Chair. Birla on Friday presided over the annual general meeting of the Indian Parliamentary Group at Parliament House complex.

Bill passage amid chaos not new trend in recent history of Parliament

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE Parliament ruckus and bills passed without discussions appear to be the new normal, with no difference made by parties in power at the Centre. If the Wednesday chaos in Rajya Sabha was on account of the monsoon session passing bills in haste, the UPA's record also appears no different, with 17 legislative proposals getting nod within minutes.

Opposition MPs alleged that their women colleagues were manhandled in Rajy Sabha, while the government charged there was an attempt to strangulate a woman marshal. These are cited as new lows. But both Houses of Parliament are full of incidents, where MPs trooped into the well of the House to raise slogans.

With former Vice President and then Chairman of Rajya Sabha Hamid Ansari watching, MPs belonging to Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) and Samajwadi Party (SP) in 2010 had torn copies of the Constitution Amendment Bill to reserve one-third of seats for women in legislative bodies, including both the Houses of Parliament. Torn pieces of paper were thrown at the Chair and attempts were made to uproot the microphone of the presiding officer. The Women Reservation Bill has since been forgotten, with ruling dispensations mentioninga lack of political consensus whenever the issue is raised.

A few months before Lok Sabha elections in 2014, the lower House witnessed an unprecedented scene, with Congress MPs from Andhra Pradesh spraying pepper in the well of the House, after then Union Minister for Home Affairs Sushil Kumar Shinde had sought to introduce the Andhra Pradesh Reorganisation Bill. Party MPs had to form a ring to protect him from the agitating MPs from the same party.

On legislative business, the NDA and UPA dispensations have seemingly been in tearing hurry to get bills passed in a din. UPA had a record of passing 18 bills during 2006-14 without discussions, when neither House was in order. NDA bettered the UPA record, with the Lok Sabha alone passing as many as 20 bills in the just concluded monsoon session, with only the Constitution (127) Amendment Bill being discussed by the two Houses.

Gap between doses increased due to vax shortage: SII MD

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

CYRUS Poonawalla, managing director of Serum Institute of India (SII), has said it is unlikely that all adults in India will get at least one dose of Covid-19 vaccines by the end of this year. He also said the gap between two doses should be two months, but the government has increased it because of vaccine shortage in India.

Rough annual production is around 120-130 crore doses. This is not enough to vaccinate the entire population. We should not believe those who are lying about vaccinations by the end of 2021

Cyrus Poonawalla

Receiving the Lok Manya Tilak award in Pune on Friday, Poonawalla said the interval between two doses should not be three or four months. "If a person is infected with Covid, he/she can delay the vaccination. In normal cases, this should not be done. The government was facing a shortage of vaccines, therefore they increased the gap between two doses," Poonawalla said.

At present, prescribed gap between two doses of Covishield is 12-16 weeks or 3-4 months. For Covaxin, this is 4-6 weeks. SII manufactures Covishield, which is the most used vaccine in India.

Poonawalla added that reaching the target of vaccinating the adult population by the end of 2021 is not realistic. SII has been producing 10-12 crore Covishield doses per month, while another firm is producing one crore. "Annually, rough production is around 120-130 crore doses. This number is not enough to vaccinate the entire population of India. We should not believe those who are lying about vaccinations by the end of this year," Poonawalla said.

He said SII has lowered production of other vaccines to focus on Covishied. "Despite that, we are able to produce 10-12 crore doses per month. We are the only company that has been producing this number across the world," Poonawalla claimed.

He also warned against mixing vaccines. "Cocktail doses may have side effects. If one vaccine is working properly, then why are we mixing them. If something happens, then vaccine firms will blame each other. We should not jeopardise people's lives."

He said that after taking two doses, people can take a third after six months as a booster. "It has been observed that antibodies are getting reduced after six months of vaccination. It is my suggestion that people can take a third or booster dose. Myself and all 7,000 employees of SII have taken the third dose."

Poonawalla said the government should lift the ban on exporting vaccines. "We are facing huge losses. We had commitmentsd. Bill Gates Foundation has given ₹5,000 crore for vaccines, but we failed to meet their demand."

Centre releases ₹8,093 cr as part of preparation package

New Delhi: The Centre has released around ` 8,093 crore to the states as part of Phase 2 of the emergency response & health system preparedness package. It was approved by the Union cabinet in early July with a corpus of ` 23, 123 crore to prepare rural, tribal and semi urban areas better. Last month, the Union health ministry had issued ` 1,827 crore under this scheme, to be implemented from July this year to March, 2022. The government said that 50% of the fund has now been shared by the states, to ensure implementation of critical activities at dsstricts levels to prepare the public healthcare systems in response to the evolving pandemic. The scheme is aimed at accelerating health system preparedness for immediate responsiveness for early prevention, detection and management, with focus on health infrastructure development for paediatric care with measurable outcomes.

Bharat Biotech's nasal vaccine gets nod for second phase human clinical trials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BHARAT Biotech's intranasal vaccine, the first nasal vaccine, has received regulatory approval for Phase II trials. This is the first Covid-19 vaccine to undergo human clinical trials in India, the Centre said.

"Phase 1 Clinical trial has been completed in age groups of 18 to 60 years. The company reports that doses of the vaccine administered to healthy volunteers in Phase I trials have been well tolerated. No serious adverse events reported," said the Ministry of Science and Technology on Friday.

Previously, the vaccine was found to be safe, immunogenic and well tolerated in pre-clinical toxicity studies. The vaccine was able to elicit high levels of neutralising antibodies in animal studies. BBV154 is an intranasal replication-deficient chimpanzee adenovirus SARS-CoV-2 vectored vaccine. BBIL has in-licensed technology from Washington University.

Regulatory approval has been received for conducting "A Phase 2 randomized, multi-centric, Clinical Trial of Heterologous Prime-Boost Combination of SARS-CoV-2 Vaccines to evaluate the immunogenicity and safety of BBV152 (COVAXIN) with BBV154 (Adenoviral Intranasal COVID-19 vaccine) in Healthy Volunteers."

Dr Renu Swarup, secretary of the Department of Biotechnology (DBT), said, "The Department, through Mission COVID Suraksha, is committed to the development of safe and efficacious COVID-19 vaccines. Bharat Biotech's BBV154 Covid vaccine is the first intranasal vaccine being developed in the country entering into late-stage clinical trials."

CENTRAL GUIDELINES TO REOPEN SCHOOLS EXPECTED SOON

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THE Centre is planning to reopen schools with a set of national guidelines. These are likely to recommend specifics such as minimum vaccination coverage for teachers and other staff and a phase-wise plan to begin in-person classes.

For this purpose, the Union health ministry is having discussions with the education ministry and ICMR. "As of now, the decision to open schools in phases has been left to states, but some states have reached out to us seeking guidance on parameters before deciding to start classes," a source said.

The government is working on the guidelines, he said, and will share it with states soon.

The development comes even as WHO chief scientist Soumya Swaminathan, two days back, made an appeal for reopening schools amid the pandemic, saying that its greatest impact is the indirect effect on education by shutting down schools almost around the world.

"The impact on children's mental, physical and cognitive well-being will last a long time. School openings must be prioritised with distancing, masking, avoiding indoor singing and gatherings, hand hygiene and vaccination of all adults," she had said.

Government authorities such as ICMR director general Balram Bhargava and AIIMS, Delhi, director Randeep Guleria, have batted for opening for schools in a planned manner.

Bhargava had said that states should consider opening schools in districts with under 5% positivity rate, also reckoning that it may be better to allow primary kids to attend in-person classes, as younger kids are less susceptible to develop serious Covid-19 disease.

They, however, added that vaccination of teachers and other staff may be necessary before schools are opened. Given that a small percentage of teachers have been vaccinated so far, the Centre has sought the help of private hospitals to provide them free vaccines under the CSR funding. As of now, Punjab, Gujarat, Bihar, Odisha and Uttar Pradesh and a few others have cautiously allowed in -person classes in schools.

'No approval to any Afghan govt coming via violence'

PUSHKAR BANAKR @ New Delhi

AFTER the regional dialogue in Doha over Afghanistan situation, 12 countries including India, the US and China have decided that they would not recognise any government that has taken control over Kabul through violence.

According to US State Department spokesperson Ned Price, the participants agreed, first and foremost, that the peace process needs to be accelerated. And they also agreed, importantly, that they will not recognise any government that is imposed through military force. "So this is not just the US making this point. This is not just the US speaking with our voice. This is the international community, as you see represented in the consensus that has emerged today," he said.

Interestingly, the development comes amid reports in the US that China has agreed to recognise the Taliban, if it comes to power in Afghanistan. The agreement comes after a Taliban delegation travelled to China and met Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi on July 28.

In Doha, the participants which attended the regional conference on Afghanistan included the US, Qatar, the UN, China, Uzbekistan, Pakistan, the UK, the EU, Germany, India, Norway, Tajikistan, Turkey and Turkmenistan. India was represented by Joint Secretary (Pakistan-Afghanistan-Iran) JP Singh.

The statement from the State Department comes at a time when the Taliban resurgence has gained momentum. The militant group has captured around 10 provincial capitals within a week. On Thursday, Afghanistan's third largest city Herat and Ghazni, which is only 150 km from Kabul, fell to the militant group. On Friday, the Taliban said that it captured Kandahar.

Countries like the US, Canada and Pakistan have closed down their missions in Afghanistan fearing the surge of the Taliban.

US military intelligence assessment suggests Kabul could come under insurgent pressure within 30 days and that, if current trends hold, the Taliban could gain full control of the country within a few months.

Biased Twitter interfering in political process, says Rahul on blocking of account

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

HIS account was locked, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday attacked Twitter for being biased and interfering in the country's political process.

"By shutting down my Twitter they are interfering in our political process. A company is making its business to define our politics. And as a politician I don't like that. This is an attack on the democratic structure of the country," said Gandhi in a video message.

Twitter had locked Gandhi's account after he shared pictures of the family of a nine-year-old, allegedly raped and murdered in Delhi. Twitter said the account has been suspended as his tweet was against its rules and the law.

"This is an attack on the democratic structure of the country. This is not an attack on Rahul Gandhi. This is not you know, simply shutting Rahul Gandhi down. I have 19-20 million followers. You are denying them the right to an opinion. That's what you are doing," Gandhi said.

He added that Twitter is actually not a neutral, objective platform and for the investors this is a very dangerous thing because taking sides in the political contest will have repercussions. "It's a biased platform that listens to what the government of the day says. We have to ask: are we going to allow companies just because they are beholden to the Government of India to define our politics for us. Is that what this is going to come to? Or are we going to define our politics on our own? That's the real question here," Gandhi said.

NCPCR wants action against Insta profile too

New Delhi: After Twitter, apex child rights body NCPCR on Friday asked Facebook to take action against the Instagram profile of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi for posting a photo of the family of a nine-year-old girl, who was allegedly raped and murdered in southwest Delhi, saying it violated the law.

Says it's governor's constitutional duty to act on advice of state council of ministers

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

The Bombay High Court on Friday expressed displeasure over Maharashtra Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari for not acting on the 12 names recommended by the Uddhav Thackeray government for nomination as MLCs. The court said the governor has a constitutional obligation to act, but refused to issue a direction.

Dismissing a petition against Governor Koshyari over the matter, the court said, "directions could not be given to the Governor under Article 361 of the Constitution, it hoped that things would be set right at an early date. Governor has to act on the advice of the council of ministers. The obligation that the constitution rests on the governor to either accept or return the recommendations as made by the Council of Ministers has to be discharged within a reasonable time."

The court further said, "The appointment seats of the members in the legislative council who are required to be nominated by the Governor cannot be kept vacant indefinitely without there being a justifiable cause. The eight-month period is beyond a reasonable time. Looking at the gravity of the situation, the posts need to fill up expeditiously."

The court said, "We express hope and trust that things will be set right at an early date. If the saying that everything happens for a reason is to be believed, this court ought to assume there were genuine reasons for the governor not to convey his reasons earlier."

"Whatever be the nature thereof, however, it is time the impasse is resolved. It is mature and responsible governance both at the central as well as in the states that the people look up to."

"Should there be any misunderstanding or miscommunication between two constitutional authorities or functionaries, then the right direction has to be followed."

About eight months ago, Uddhav Thackeray–led state government had sent a list of 12 members to be nominated to the State Legislative Council.

Pak terrorist with rocket-propelled grenade killed

RPG recovery in the Valley after a long time indicates big attack plan

"It is after a very long time that RPG has been used by terrorists. The recovery of RPG indicates how big attack terrorists were planning and we have foiled major militant attack," IGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said. The RPGs were used by terrorists in the early 1990s to target security forces and vital installations in Jammu and Kashmir.

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A Pakistani terrorist of Lashkar-e-Toiba was killed and a Rocket Propelled Grenade (RPG) was recovered from his possession after an overnight gunfight following an attack on BSF convoy at Malpora Mirbazar, Kulgam on Srinagar-Jammu national highway in Jammu and Kashmir.

During the gunfight, the Lashkar terrorist destroyed two drones of security forces and troops had to use RPGs to kill him.

It is after nearly two decades that security forces have recovered an RPG from a terrorist. Adding to concerns of security agencies four sticky bombs were recovered from the border district of Poonch by troops on Friday.

IGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said a Pakistani terrorist Lashkar Usman, who was active over the last six months, was killed in an overnight gunfight at Kulgam.

Three security personnel, including an officer, and two civilians were injured in the gunfight. Two terrorist including Usman were trapped by security forces after terrorists attacked a BSF convoy on Srinagar-Jammu highway in Kulgam on Thursday afternoon.

According to the police, during the gunfight, the terrorists destroyed two drones being operated by the security forces to carry out aerial surveillance during the operation.

IGP said Usman was an associate of Jaish commander Saifullah, who was mastermind the attack on CRPF convoy.

"It confirms Pakistan's involvement in attack on BSF convoy," he said. The IGP said besides an AK-47 rifle, an RPG-7 and four RPG shells were recovered.

Over 50% hand sanitiser products in Uttarakhand market fail quality test

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

MORE than 50% of hand sanitizer samples failed in providing adequate protection, a survey conducted by a private agency in Uttarakhand has found.

The survey was done by Dehradun-based Society of Pollution And Environmental Conservation Scientists (SPECS). A total of 1,050 samples from all 13 districts of the hill state were inspected. As many as 578 turned out to be not up to the mark. "According to the prescribed norms, alcohol content in sanitizer should be 60-70% but more than half did not have that much concentration. Hydrogen per Oxide was found over 0.5% in 112 samples which is above the prescribed norms," Brij Mohan Sharma, secretary of the SPECS said.

The chemical composition of the sanitizers was also found to be violating the norms. For instance in some of the samples the methanol content was above the prescribed limits.

Dr NS Bisht, senior physician based in Dehradun commenting on the issue said, "Medical Council of India has set the norms for ingredient/chemical composition for sanitizer to be used in these pandemic times. Sub-standard quality of sanitizer is damaging for individual as well as collective society."

Sixty-four per cent of samples from Champawat and Chamoli districts failed.

Officials from the state health department said measures are in place to check quality of santisers. "The mechanisms for quality check is already in place. This will be looked into," said an official of the department.

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A major landslide occurred near Nalda village in Himachal Pradesh's tribal district of Lahaul and Spiti on Friday, blocking the flow of Chandrabhaga River, leading to hundreds of residents from a dozen villages being evacuated and water entering some houses.

This is for the first time a landslide has blocked flow of the river. As a precautionary measure, villages along the river are on alert and people have been evacuated from the low-lying areas.

An official of Lauhaul and Spiti district said water has slowly begun flowing over the landslide debris that was blocking the river.

Assam-Arunachal dispute in 1,200 places: Himanta

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

ASSAM has boundary disputes with Arunachal Pradesh at about 1,200 locations, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma informed the state Assembly.

"Our informal talks with the Arunachal government over territorial disputes have started. We have 12 areas of differences with Meghalaya, but the dispute with Arunachal is at 1,200 places," Sarma told the Assembly.

"But as we (both states) have matured now, we know who or which communities are living where. We will try to solve the problem," Sarma said.

There was a clear delineation of the boundary when Uttarakhand and Jharkhand were created as states. However, when Mizoram, Arunachal and Nagaland were created, their borders were not clearly delineated in many areas, leading to disputes, the CM said.

Cases pertaining to Assam's boundary dispute with Nagaland and Arunachal are pending before the Supreme Court. Sarma said resolving the dispute with Nagaland would be very difficult.

Bengal CPI(M) sets age limit for top posts

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

WITH a view to making the party more attractive to younger generation, the Bengal CPI (M) has decided to fix an age ceiling to be inducted into the party's state, district and area committees.

During a two-day state committee meeting in presence of the party's general secretary Sitaram Yechuri, a draft was prepared proposing no one above the age of 60 will be inducted into the party's state committee and those, who are already in the committee, will be axed once they turn 72.

It was also proposed that young faces be inducted into the lower rungs of the party as much as possible.

"The draft also proposed no one above 70 will be in the district committees. In the area committee, the age cap will be 65," said a CPI(M) state committee member.

The proposal comes in the wake of the party's disastrous performance in the recent Assembly elections. The CPI (M), which ruled the state for 34 years till 2011, failed to bag even a single seat in the election.

The CPI (M)'s hierarchy, from the area and district committees to the state-level committee, is dominated by veterans with little youth representation.

In his speech, Yechuri hinted that the party will favour inducting young faces into the committees. "We became members of different committees when we were young. We will have to pave the way for the young generation," he said.

Those who are not performing well to carry out organisational activities should step down immediately. They should be replaced by young party workers

Sitharam Yechury

If the draft proposal gets the final approval, veteran CPI (M) leaders like the party's state secretary Suryakanta Mishra and Left Front chairman Biman Bose will have to step down. The party already decided to cap the age ceiling for its central committee members.

There was a clear indication ahead of the recent Assembly elections that the CPI(M) wants to infuse youthful energy into the party as nearly a dozen young candidates, including two research scholars from JNU, were fielded against TMC and BJP candidates in high-profile constituencies.

A notice issued recently says the university has considered the proposal to provide support towards teaching aid especially in the pandemic era where online teaching is compulsory. The advance will be recovered in 20 installments from the salary from October 2021 to May 2023. An official of the university said it had become clear following Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's announcement that the campuses could be reopened only in November, subject to improvement in the Covid-19 situation. Mamata had said recently that the state government would try to reopen schools and colleges on alternate days after Durga Puja vacation.

DEATH TOLL IN TURKEY FLOODS REACHES 31

More than 1,700 people evacuated as rain pounds Black Sea coastal provinces

ANKARA

THE death toll from the severe floods and mudslides in northern Turkey rose to 27 Friday after search and rescue crews recovered 10 more bodies overnight, officials said. Dozens more people were believed to be missing. Torrential rains pounded the Black Sea coastal provinces of Bartin, Kastamonu, Sinop and Samsun on Wednesday, causing the flooding that demolished homes and bridges and swept away cars. More than 1,700 people were evacuated across the region, and many were being temporarily housed in student dormitories.

Most of the people killed were in Kastamonu, where a stream burst its banks and inundated the town of Bozkurt. Floodwaters demolished one waterfront building and severely damaged two neighbouring buildings. The floods struck on the heels of wildfires in southern Turkey that devastated forest lands in the seaside provinces of Mugla and Antalya that are popular with tourists. At least eight people died and thousands of residents were forced to flee.

Climate scientists say there is little doubt that climate change from the burning of coal, oil and natural gas is driving more extreme events, such as heat waves, droughts, wildfires, floods and storms. Such calamities are expected to happen more frequently as the planet warms.The Disaster and Emergency Management Presidency, or AFAD, said Friday that crews are still searching for a woman who was reported missing in Bartin province. Private NTV television reported, however, that dozens of people remain unaccounted for.

They include 12-year-old twin sisters and their grandparents who were trapped inside the eight-story building in Bozkurt that collapsed. Emergency crews were seen sifting through the rubble searching for survivors. The girls' mother, Arzu Yucel, said she had left the apartment building after authorities advised residents to move their vehicles to higher ground. When she returned, water surrounded the building and prevented her from entering. From another building, she watched her daughters wave at her. "We spoke by phone. They waved from the balcony. They said, 'Don't worry, mommy, we are fine'," Yucel said. "They told us 'Move your cars higher.' They didn't say 'Save your lives, save your children.' I could have gotten them out of there." AP

PAKISTAN BUS BLAST PROBE

Opposed to any force using terrorism to seek geopolitical gains: China

BEIJING

CHINA on Friday said it opposes any force using terrorism to seek geopolitical gains, a day after the Pakistan government alleged that India and Afghanistan were behind a recent suicide attack on a bus in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province that killed 13 people, including nine Chinese nationals.

At a press conference in Islamabad on Thursday after the completion of the probe into the July 14 blast that hit the shuttle bus carrying Chinese and Pakistani engineers and workers, Pakistan Foreign Minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi said Afghan soil was used and the vehicle involved in the attack was smuggled from Afghanistan. Qureshi accused India's intelligence agency Research and Analysis Wing (R&AW) and Afghanistan's National Directorate of Security (NDS) of carrying out the attack in Pakistan.

On the Pakistani government's updates on the investigation into the case of the Dasu terrorist attack, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying said the Pakistani side's investigation into the terrorist attack has seen "major progress within a short period of time".

"China expresses appreciation to Pakistan's active efforts. Further investigation is still ongoing," she said. China and Pakistan will follow the important consensus reached by the leaders on both sides, ascertain all the facts and truth, and hold the culprits accountable and bring them to justice, she said.

"Terrorism is the common enemy of all mankind. China firmly opposes any force using terrorism to seek geopolitical gains and calls on countries in the region to collaborate in eradicating all terrorist organisations for upholding common security and development," Hua said. PTI

PM launches automobile scrappage policy

Govt says the move will cut raw material cost by 40%, bring in ₹10k cr investments and create thousands of jobs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday formally launched the National Automobile Vehicle Scrappage Policy at the Investor Summit in Gujarat. The policy was first announced by Union Minister for Road Transport & Highways Nitin Gadkari in March 2021 to phase out older polluting vehicles.

While launching the policy, the PM said that it will bring in a fresh investment of more than ₹10,000 crore and create thousands of jobs. Modi also said that the general public will benefit greatly from this policy in every way — from zero registration fee to reduction in number of accidents.

There are about one crore vehicles in India that are plying on roads without valid fitness... The old vehicles are 10-12% more polluting than the newer ones
Nitin Gadkari, Transport minister

We had to import ₹23,000 cr worth of scrap steel during the last year as our scrapping is not productive and we are not able to recover energy and rare earth
Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

He added that the policy will give new energy and security to the scrap related sector. "Employees and small entrepreneurs will get a safe environment and will get the benefits like the employees of other organised sectors...We had to import ₹23,000 crore worth of scrap steel during the last year as our scrapping is not productive and we are not able to recover energy and rare earth metals," the PM said.

Gadkari, who was also present at the event, claimed that the move is likely to lead to a cut in raw material costs by around 40%. He added that 450-500 vehicle fitness centres will be opened under the new policy. "There are about one crore vehicles in India that are plying on roads without valid fitness...The old vehicles are 10-12% more polluting than the newer ones and pose a safety hazard."

After the policy was launched, several companies, including Tata Motors and Cero-Mahindra MSTC Recycling, announced setting up of scrappage facilities. Tata Motors said it has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Gujarat government through the Ports and Transport Department to support setting up a registered vehicle scrapping facility (RVSF) in Ahmedabad for end-of-life passenger and commercial vehicles. The scrappage centre will have the capacity to recycle up to 36,000 vehicles a year.

The scrappage policy, also called The Voluntary Vehicle Fleet Modernisation Programme, is aimed at phasing out passenger vehicles and commercial vehicles that are older than 20 or 15 years, respectively. The policy implementation will start with heavy commercial vehicles from April 1, 2023.

TAIWAN

TAIWAN EXPECTS FASTEST GROWTH IN A DECADE

Taiwan's economy will grow at its fastest pace in over a decade in 2021, official data showed on Friday. The outlook upgrade comes on the back of an upward revision in export growth forecast for this year. The export surge is led by global demand for the island's technology products buoyed by a work-and-study-from-home boom during the Covid-19 pandemic, as workers and students rushed to buy smartphones, tablets and laptops. GDP is expected to rise 5.88% this year, the fastest pace since it expanded 10.25% in 2010, up from a growth forecast of 5.46% made in June. Giving its first forecast for 2022, the office said it saw GDP growth reaching a more modest 3.69% next year. Taiwan's exports are a bellwether of demand for global tech giants such as Apple Inc, as the island is a major producer of semiconductors, a global shortage of which has rattled firms like auto makers and boosted Taiwanese corporate profits.

MALAYSIA

MALAYSIA CENTRAL BANK CUTS 2021 GROWTH OUTLOOK

Malaysia's economy expanded more quickly than expected on an annual basis in Q2, but the central bank slashed its 2021 growth forecast as rising Covid cases and new lockdown measures weighed on the outlook. Malaysia's economy grew 16.1% from a Covid-induced slump a year ago, helped by an improvement in domestic demand and robust exports, and beating expectations for 14.3% growth in a Reuters poll of economists. But the central bank expected the economy to expand between 3.0% and 4.0% in 2021, cutting its full-year forecast from the 6-7.5% growth projected in March, Bank Negara Malaysia said in a statement. The expected reopening of the economy would support a gradual recovery in the fourth quarter this year, with higher global growth and sustained policy support providing a further lift to the economic growth, the central bank said. The recovery in the second quarter comes after gross domestic product shrank 17.1% a year earlier, the worst contraction in over two decades, as Malaysia introduced its first set of lockdowns to curb the spread of Covid in 2020.

JAPAN

JAPAN'S REFINERS FACE PANDEMIC STRESS AGAIN

Japan's major oil refiners have recovered from last year's steep losses with all reporting a profit for the April-June quarter, but they continue to face headwinds as Covid cases spiral to record highs in the country's fifth wave of the pandemic. Eneos, Japan's biggest refiner that accounts for about half of Japan's fuel market, on Friday reported profit of $888 million for the first fiscal quarter. Sales rose 44% but were 12% below the same quarter in 2019 before the pandemic. Idemitsu Kosan reported last week a net income of 88 billion yen versus a year-earlier loss of about the same amount, but warned future profits may be strained as the pandemic clouds the outlook at home and overseas. Japan's refiners, which have been cutting capacity as long-term fuel demand wanes with the country's declining population, were hit hard last year when the pandemic briefly led to negative oil prices. Their sales have not yet recovered to pre-pandemic levels and, in the quarter just ended, were as much as a fifth below that of the same period in 2019. The IEA said on Thursday the rising demand for oil abruptly reversed course in July this year and was set for a slower recovery through the end of 2021.

UP 49% IN JULY

Exports hit record high of $35.4 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA'S merchandise export reached a record high of $35.4 billion in July, on account of recovery in key western market, up by 49% against the same month last year and up by 35% over FY20, before Covid.

Meanwhile, merchandise imports also shot up to $46.4 billion, the second-highest in history, leading to a widening of trade deficit to $11 billion.

According to the revised data by the commerce ministry, exports were led by robust growth in petroleum products, jems and jewellery, chemicals, engineering goods, electronic goods, readymade garments. Imports were driven by crude oil, chemicals, precious stones, iron and steel, electronic goods and gold.

$35.4 bn Total merchandise exports

$46.4 bn Total merchandise imports

$11 bn Trade deficit

"This is the highest-ever exports recorded at least in the previous 9 years as per the data available with FIEO," A Sakthivel, President, FIEO said.

The government has set a merchandise exports target of $400 billion for FY22 and $1 lakh crore ($1 trillion) in the next five years.

Experts expect that exports will continue to maintain its growth momentum in August.

FIEO chief said that the global demand during this period has remained buoyant as the order booking positions of exporters have been impressive.

Also as tentative data released earlier this week showed Indian shipments in August started off well in August garnering $7.4 billion in the first week of the month.

FIEO said that though the government has announced a slew of measures to support exports including the announcement of RoSCTL, the need of the hour is to soon notify the RoDTEP rates to remove uncertainty from the minds of the trade and industry.

It also requested the government to focus on key issues including priority status to exports sector, release of necessary funds for MEIS and clarity on SEIS benefits, resolving risky exporters issues, augmenting the flow of empty containers and establishing a regulatory authority to seek justification of freight hike and imposition of various charges by the shipping lines.

Future Group companies and Biyani family move SC against HC order

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

DAYS after the Supreme Court ruled in favour of Amazon and in its long-running dispute with Kishore Biyani-led group on its merger deal with Reliance Limited, the Future group promoters have approached the apex court against the seizure of assets belonging to the company and its founder Kishore Biyani.

According to a notification to the exchanges, the promoters comprising of Future Coupons, Future Corporate Resources Pvt Ltd, Akar Estate and Finance Pvt Ltd, Kishore Biyani, Rakesh Biyani and other members of the Biyani family have lodged a Special Leave Petition (SLP) challenging orders passed by the Delhi High Court in March this year. "These proceedings are likely to be listed and heard by the Supreme Court," the statement said.

As a legal remedy, the Future Group has approached the Supreme court but it remains to be seen if there is any apparent shifting of the odds in favour of the petitioner. Lawyers TNIE spoke to said the average odds of success for a civil SLP in the Supreme Court is just under 50%.

The Delhi High Court had ruled that Biyani and Future had deliberately and wilfully violated the Singapore tribunal order and imposed a fine of ₹20 lakh on them, payable to the Prime Minister's Relief Fund.

Tussle to decide the fate of Future and its lenders

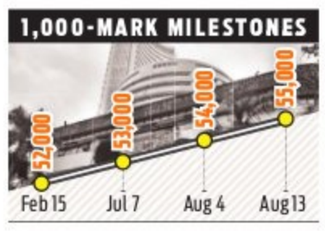
The apex court too backed the Singapore's Emergency Arbitrator (EA) award restraining the Future group from going ahead with its ₹24,731 crore deal with Reliance to sell its retail and wholesale business, and the logistics and warehousing business.

Sensex zooms to 55,000-mark in just 7 sessions

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IT took only seven sessions for the Sensex to zoom from 54,000 points to 55,000 points. The 30-share Index had touched 54,000-mark on August 5 and ended the Friday session at 55,437, up 593 points from the previous day closing. Similarly, the Nifty 50 index rose 165 points to settle at record high of 16,529.

The Sensex jumped as much as 644 points in intra-day trading to hit a record high of 55,487.79 and Nifty 50 index touched an all-time high of 16,543.60.



Friday's spectacular rally was led by heavyweights such as Reliance Industries, Tata Consultancy Services, HDFC Bank, Infosys, HDFC and Larsen & Toubro. TCS advanced 3.22% to close at ₹3,462. The country's largest IT company achieved market value of ₹13 lakh crore. L&T shares hit a 52-week high of ₹1,676, and closed around 3% higher after the company bagged an order for an oxidation reactor from Technip Energies.

On the contrary, broader indices continue to remain under selling pressure and ended the day mildly lower. The MidCap and SmallCap indices slipped 0.06% and 0.01%, respectively, on Friday.

The market sentiment which was positive, according to experts, received a boost from a pick-up in manufacturing activity in June and dip in retail inflation in July.

S Ranganathan, Head of Research at LKP securities, said, "Buoyed by Inflation numbers, indices galloped their way to new highs powered by the IT index as TCS together with biggies like Larsen and Siemens stole the show even as Midcaps remained subdued. FMCG names lent good support today to the Sensex which has vaulted from 50k in just seven months to endorse that the bull market is still firmly in place."

TILL AUGUST 26

Govt extends bidding deadline for RINL stake sale advisors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Friday extended the deadline for transaction advisors to bid for managing RINL privatisation for the second time by 9 days till August 26.

The Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) on July 7 floated the Request for Proposal (RFP) for appointing transaction advisors for RINL or Vizag Steel. The first deadline was July 28, which was extended to August 17 and now till August 26.

The Cabinet Committee of Economic Affairs (CCEA) on January 27 gave 'in-principle approval for 100% disinvestment of government stake in Rashtriya Ispat Nigam Limited (RINL), also called Visakhapatnam Steel Plant or Vizag Steel, along with RINL's stake in its subsidiaries/joint ventures through strategic disinvestment by way of privatisation.

The decision comes a day after DIPAM secretary said despite the delay by the second wave of Covid-19, the government will complete its divestment target by March. The government aims to complete the strategic sale of Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd (BPCL), Shipping Corp, Container Corporation, Neelachal Ispat Nigam Ltd, Pawan Hans, Air India, among others, by March 2022.

Central board of RBI takes stock of current economic situation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE central board of Reserve Bank of India (RBI) met on Friday to discuss the current economic scenario, continued global and domestic challenges and various areas of operations of the central bank.

The meeting was held under the chairmanship of RBI governor Shaktikanta Das. It was the 590th meeting of the central board. The board also discussed the working of subcommittees of the central board and the local boards and reviewed the recent policy measures taken by the central bank to mitigate the adverse impact of Covid-19 on the economy.

Deputy governors Mahesh Kumar Jain, Michael Debabrata Patra, M Rajeshwar Rao, and T Rabi Sankar and other directors of the central board Satish K Marathe, S Gurumurthy, Revathy Iyer and Sachin Chaturvedi attended the meeting. Tarun Bajaj, Secretary, Department of Economic Affairs and Debasish Panda, Secretary, Department of Financial Services also attended the meeting.

Meanwhile, the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the RBI kept the interest rates unchanged in its last meeting in August.

The repo rate has been kept at 4% and the reverse repo rate or the RBI's borrowing has been unchanged at 3.35%.

High inflation and uncertain growth scenario will likely force the policymakers to continue on a wait-and-watch mode for more cues. To tide over the crisis due to Covid-19 second wave, the central bank on Friday extended the on-tap TLTRO (targeted long-term repo operations) scheme.

Fate of 7,000 homebuyers hangs in balance as HDIL waits for liquidation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOUSING Development and Infrastructure Ltd (HDIL), the Mumbai-based real estate company undergoing the corporate insolvency resolution process, is likely to be liquidated after no bidders showed interest in acquiring the stressed company.

The resolution professional received no resolution plan even as the threshold of 270 days got over on April 28, 2021. According to sources, no bidders showed interest in acquiring HDIL's assets as the latter is facing multiple litigations. Ex-promoters of HDIL are also involved in the PMC Bank loan scam.

According to sources close to the resolution process, committee of creditors accounting for 80% of vote share are in favour of liquidation, and that the process is on hold as one of the financial creditors has moved an interlocutory application. The Mumbai bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) has refrained the resolution professional from taking steps for liquidation until the disposal of the said application.

Meanwhile, 7,000 homebuyers could be facing an uncertain future as they fear large haircuts. The homebuyers are unsecured financial creditors, and if the firm goes for liquidation, they may get a fraction of their dues. Homebuyers have put in ₹875 crore as their total claim. HDIL owes around ₹8,000 crore to all its creditors.

Owing to pending litigations, the resolution professional had informed in the sixth meeting of CoC that it was getting difficult for him to keep the firm as a going concern as it continues to incur costs including employee cost (which forms a substantial portion of monthly running cost) in the absence of any significant revenue. The resolution professional has sought advice from the CoC for rationalisation of salaries of employees of HDIL.

Govt hikes air fare cap; passenger capacity at 72%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE ministry of civil aviation (MoCA) has increased the capacity deployment by allowing airlines to sell up to 72.5% seats of their pre-covid-19 capacity on domestic flights, up from 65% earlier. The ministry also announced a price hike on domestic flights by at least 12.5% on both minimum and maximum domestic airfare.

"The minimum and maximum fare chargeable shall continue to be rolled over for the 30 days cycle," the ministry said in the statement.

According to the new changes, the minimum fares have been raised to ₹2,900 from ₹2,600 for short-haul flights with a duration of less than 40 minutes. The maximum fare that an airline can charge in these routes has been increased to ₹8,800 from ₹7,800. There are six other bands with separate minimum or maximum fares. With this price hike, the Delhi-Mumbai one-way minimum fare has increased by at least ₹575, while the maximum airfare has gone up by ₹1,625.

India airlines have long been asking the government to remove fare and capacity caps stating that it may result in additional losses. The government, however, is taking the measure to maintain social distancing norms inside airlines amidst Covid-19 pandemic and also protect the interest of smaller airlines which could not fight a tariff war against the big players.

MoCA permitted increasing the capacity deployment on domestic routes gradually from 33%, with effect from May 25, 2020, to 80%, with effect from December 03, 2020. However, it reduced the permissible capacity deployment to 50% of pre-Covid levels with effect from June 01, 2021 due to the resurgence of the second wave of the pandemic. Before the current announcement, it was fixed at 65%.

"This increase will allow airlines to partly offset the impact of increased aviation turbine fuel prices, thereby cushioning some impact on their losses.

SpiceJet posts standalone net loss of ₹729 cr

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

AFTER that loss to Great Britain in the group stage, the support staff reminded the women's hockey side of the platform they were playing in. As a motivational tool, it isn't out of the ordinary but asking the team to take a step back worked wonders. One of the support staff, analytical coach Janneke Schopman, set to be the new chief coach after she comes back from the US, lifts the lid on what went on in Tokyo.

"We tried to remind them of the fact that we were at the Olympics and that we should make the most of it," the Dutchwoman says. The reminder, they felt, was necessary after the team went into that Great Britain match with higher expectations only to lose 1-4. "You easily forget about these things when you are a player. You feel the pressure to perform, the urgency, disappointment... In the end, if you can take a little bit of a step back and look back at all the work you have done to get where you are... I think what I have learned as a player myself is you sometimes just have to embrace the fact that you are there and be proud also a little bit in order to play better and improve and to have more success rather than just go far down that you kind of forget about all these things and just put more pressure. I think after that third game that was a small reminder...," Schopman explains.

It kind of helped that Rani Rampal & Co came together after that match to exchange a few words with each other about the things that needed to be done to course correct. "What happened was actually the team came together and had a tough talk but a good talk... it was honest. From that moment on, the team unity came forward."

Janneke Schopman with Sjoerd Marijne

It's fair to say it was looking iffy till then, even if they were playing well and generally passing the eye test. However, the team, Schopman admits, went to Tokyo without any real expectations and were logically able to write off the opening two defeats. "We came into the tournament without any real expectations," she explains. "We just wanted to play and see where we were at. The Netherlands and Germany games... you know you are playing good opponents. I think for parts of the game, we were able to compete but in the end, they are more experienced and better in certain aspects of the game, so it's potentially logical you lose those two games."

What she credits the team is for their boundless quest to learn and grow, like how they did during the latter stage of the Games. It's something she has been observing ever since walking through the Sports Authority of India (SAI) gate at Bengaluru in January 2020. "In terms of development, they have developed tremendously," she says. "This group of people is tremendously invested in learning and growing... I think that was very rewarding from the moment I joined."

When coach Sjoerd Marijne introduced Schopman to the side, he encouraged them to use the latter as a sounding board. It was something the members eventually did. "I was kind of interested to see if they would... from day one (they did)," Schopman, who won Olympic gold while as a player with Netherlands in 2008, says. "I think the team has made steps mentally, individually... we did mindfulness... the willingness to learn, grow and do all these things... I think that's amazing and I think that's the base for future success."

With a packed calendar ahead — Asian Champions Trophy (October 2021), Asiad (September 2022), CWG (July-August 2022) and World Cup (July 2022) — the 44-year-old will be hoping that's the case.

61kg for Ravi if he competes in Worlds

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE euphoria and celebrations refuse to die down even as India completes a week since its most successful Olympic campaign ever. Felicitation functions are lined up for medal winners and other participants for the next week or so. However, when normalcy is restored, these athletes desperately want to get back to their old routine of preparing for the upcoming championships.

For Tokyo Olympics silver medallist wrestler Ravi Dahiya, the World Championships scheduled in Oslo, Norway, from October 2 to 10 is the next event to set sights on. "The celebratory functions are lined up at the moment. As soon as this gets over, I have to focus on the next tournament. Obviously, the World Championships is my next target," the 57kg wrestler said. The Haryana wrestler had punched the ticket to Tokyo with bronze at the 2019 World Championships. After the Olympic high, the event will once again set him in motion for future goals. However, this time, the Worlds will be different for Ravi as he will compete in 61kg. "If I compete in the Worlds this edition, I will compete in 61kg," revealed the 23-year-old wrestler.

Maintaining weight has always been an issue for wrestlers, and for Ravi, who competes in the lowest weight category in men's freestyle, the issue is of great significance. But he doesn't want to look that far ahead at the moment. "I haven't thought much about changing weight category. It's still three years for the Paris Games. I have time for that."

Ravi's foreign coach Kamal Malikov has left for Russia. Contracts of these personal coaches were till the Games. The Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has said it will get the wrestlers' feedback before extending the contracts. "He has left for now but I expect the coach to join me in a month," informed Ravi.

Meanwhile, the celebrations will continue till next week, starting with the Independence Day felicitation programme. "Yes, I am attending the felicitation function hosted by the Prime Minister. After that, a programme will be organised at my village Nahri on August 18 followed by a function to be hosted by the Uttar Pradesh government in Lucknow the next day. This celebration is expected to continue till the end of this month which means I probably can start training from next month only."

The WFI is expected to organise selection trials in the first week of September to pick the team for the Worlds.

Middle (out of) order

VIVEK KRISHNAN @ Chennai

62, 24, 97, 34, 126. These have been India's opening partnerships since landing in England a couple of months ago. There was the one-off Test against New Zealand for the World Test Championship crown and now two Tests against England in the ongoing series.

The openers have tamed the brand new Dukes ball in hostile conditions. For context, the century-run stand between Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul at Lord's was the first such instance for India outside Asia since January 2011, illustrating how rare such opening alliances are outside the subcontinent. And yet, the middle-order comprising Cheteshwar Pujara, Virat Kohli and Ajinkya Rahane has failed to capitalise.

The meagre returns stretch back to 18 months or so in Kohli's case and much longer than that in the case of both Pujara and Rahane. Since January 2020, Pujara averages 25.09, Kohli 24.18 and Rahane 25.76. It is a significant sample size, with Kohli having played 10 Tests in this period while both Pujara and Rahane have 13 Tests each. Pujara, in fact, has now gone 20 Tests without a ton, his last being in January 2019. Since Rahane's match-defining 112 in the first innings of the Melbourne Test last year, he has managed just a single half-century in 15 innings.

Of course, all three of them have produced some excellent knocks even during this lean phase and will rightly point to the fact that conditions in general have been hard.

They may yet come up with a timely riposte in the second innings of this Lord's Test, but time seems to be running out for Pujara and Rahane. After the loss to NZ in the WTC final, Kohli had called for the need to bring in the 'right people with the right mindset' in what was seen as an implicit message to Pujara and Rahane to get their act together. So far in this series, Kohli has backed both his middle-order colleagues publicly, but that trust is shrinking with each passing innings.

The manner of dismissals in the first innings at Lord's must be particularly frustrating. All three were out nicking behind to deliveries outside off-stump that could have been left alone. The fundamental tenet of batting in England is exercising proper judgment outside off-stump, and none of them passed that test on this occasion.

Sports can be a viable career option: Mirabai

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

INDIA managed to open its Olympic medal account on the very first day thanks to Mirabai Chanu's impressive display in the 49kg weightlifting category. The silver medallist, who lifted a total of of 202 kg, said that the performance in Tokyo was her way of keeping a promise she made to herself after her Rio heartbreak.

Back at the Rio Olympic Games, the 27-year-old failed to pull off even one legal lift in Clean and Jerk. It was then that she promised herself that the only way to ease the pain is to win a medal at the next Games. Her World Record during the Asian Championships added to the pressure but in her mind the goal was clear.

"The pressure was a lot more this time around. After my Rio disappointment, I had promised myself that in Tokyo I would fetch a medal. That was the only thing in my mind and I worked very hard in the last five years as I had to prove to myself. Add to it the fact that almost everyone in India had identified myself as a medal certainty after my performances in the Asian Championships. That egged me on and I'm glad I could achieve success," the lifter said during an event on Friday.

The medal, Mirabai hopes, is not only going to popularise weightlifting, but also should serve as a reminder that sports can be a viable career option for kids. And the performances of the likes of Lovlina Borgohain, Kamalpreet Kaur and Aditi Ashok just to name a few show that women can achieve whatever they set their minds to. "Women are showing they can do everything. That's the best part. Hopefully, this trend will continue in the next Olympics as well. And for youngsters and their parents, all these medals shows that choosing a sports career can be rewarding be it any sport. The only prerequisite is the will to always work hard and all goals will be achieved."

Recently, there has been a lot of talk surrounding the sport possibly being dropped from the Paris roster. But Mirabai is hopeful that such a decision will not be taken. "I'm aware of the talks but I don't have the exact details. Hopefully, such a thing won't happen. Let's see what happens in the future."

Beijing bars Covid origin probe again

WHO made fresh call after its chief said initial investigation had not gone far enough

COVID

BEIJING: China on Friday rejected WHO's calls for a renewed probe into the origins of Covid-19, saying it supported "scientific" over "political" efforts to find out how the virus had started.

Pressure is once again mounting on Beijing to probe into the orgins of a pandemic which has killed more than four million people and paralysed economies worldwide.

A delayed and heavily politicised visit by a WHO team of international experts went to Wuhan in January 2021 to produce a first phase report, which was written in conjunction with their Chinese counterparts. It failed to conclude how the virus began.

On Thursday the WHO urged China to share raw data from the earliest Covid-19 cases to revive its probe into the origins of the disease.

China hit back, repeating its position that the initial investigation was enough and that calls for further data were motivated by politics.

"We oppose political tracing ... and abandoning the joint report" issued after the WHO expert team's Wuhan visit in January, vice foreign minister Ma Zhaoxu told reporters. "We support scientific tracing."

That report said the virus jumping from bats to humans via an intermediate animal was the most probable scenario, while a leak from Wuhan was "extremely unlikely".

Ma rejected suggestions of new lines of investigation.

"The conclusions and recommendations of WHO and China joint report were recognised by the international community and the scientific community," he said.

"Future global traceability work should and can only be further carried out on the basis of this report, rather than starting a new one."

Lab leak theory

In the face of China's reluctance, experts are increasingly open to considering the theory that the virus might have leaked out of a lab, once dismissed as a conspiracy propagated by the US far-right.

Even WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus has said that the initial probe into Wuhan's virology labs had not gone far enough, while President Joe Biden in May ordered a separate investigation into the virus origins.

A WHO call last month for the investigation's second stage to include audits of the Wuhan labs infuriated Beijing, with vice health minister Zeng Yixin saying the plan showed "disrespect for common sense and arrogance towards science".

Meanwhile, Danish scientist Peter Ben Embarek, who led the mission to Wuhan, said a lab employee infected while taking samples falls under one of the likely hypotheses as to how the virus passed from bats to humans.

He told the Danish media that the suspect bats were not from the Wuhan region and that the only people likely to have approached them were lab workers from the city.

Embarek previously acknowledged that "politics was always in the room with us" during the Wuhan trip, which was delayed after China initially stalled approval for the international researchers' entry.

BRIEF HISTORY

DEFINITION Cryogenics is the science that addresses the production and effects of very low temperatures

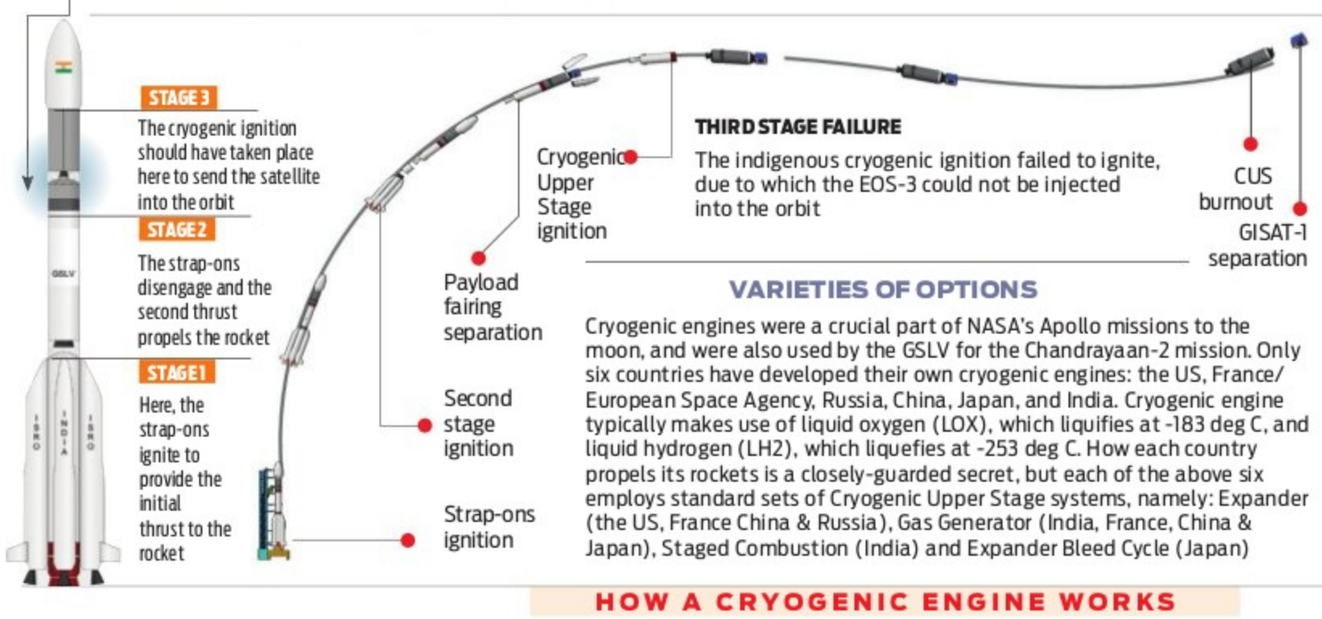
ORIGINS From Greek words kryos meaning frost and genic meaning produce

COINED BY Prof Kamerlingh Onnes of the University of Leiden in the Netherlands in 1894

WHY He used the word in reference to the liquefaction of permanent gases such as oxygen, nitrogen, hydrogen, and helium

CONSENSUS Over the years the term cryogenics has generally been used to refer to temperatures below -150 C

CRYOGENIC ENGINE A cryogenic rocket engine is the one that uses a cryogenic fuel and oxidiser, that is, both its fuel and oxidiser are gases liquefied and stored at very low temperatures



STAGE 3
The cryogenic ignition should have taken place here to send the satellite into the orbit
STAGE 2
The strap-ons disengage and the second thrust propels the rocket
STAGE 1
Here, the strap-ons ignite to provide the initial thrust to the rocket
Payload fairing separation
Second stage ignition
Strap-ons ignition
Cryogenic Upper Stage ignition
CUS burnout
GISAT-1 separation

THIRD STAGE FAILURE
The indigenous cryogenic ignition failed to ignite, due to which the EOS-3 could not be injected into the orbit

VARIETIES OF OPTIONS

Cryogenic engines were a crucial part of NASA's Apollo missions to the moon, and were also used by the GSLV for the Chandrayaan-2 mission. Only six countries have developed their own cryogenic engines: the US, France/ European Space Agency, Russia, China, Japan, and India. Cryogenic engine typically makes use of liquid oxygen (LOX), which liquifies at -183 deg C, and liquid hydrogen (LH2), which liquefies at -253 deg C. How each country propels its rockets is a closely-guarded secret, but each of the above six employs standard sets of Cryogenic Upper Stage systems, namely: Expander (the US, France China & Russia), Gas Generator (India, France, China & Japan), Staged Combustion (India) and Expander Bleed Cycle (Japan)

INDIA's MEGA SPACE RACE

When India entered the space race big time in the 1980s to give a major leg-up to its communication technology, it was faced with hard choices: Choosing between the right technologies and developing the chosen one

THE THREE FUEL (PROPELLANT) OPTIONS

1. Earth storable fuel includes kerosene, petrol among others
2. Semi-cryogenic (one propellant at room temperature and the oxidizer at extremely low temperature)
3. Cryogenic: Both propellants at extremely low temperature. India chose Cryogenic engines for the upper stages – the last stage of the rocket – because this stage provides 50% of the velocity of 10.2km per second needed at the point of injection of a satellite

HOW A CRYOGENIC ENGINE WORKS

A Cryogenic rocket stage is more efficient and provides more thrust for every kilogram of propellant it burns

Specific impulse (a measure of the efficiency) achievable with cryogenic propellants (liquid H2 & liquid O2) is much higher

Cryogenic stage is a complex system due to its use of propellants at extremely low temperatures and the associated thermal and structural problems

Oxygen liquifies at -183 deg C and Hydrogen at -253 deg C. The fuel, at these low temperatures are pumped using turbo pumps running at around 40,000 rpm

It entails complex support systems like fuel storage and filling systems, cryo engine and stage test facilities, transportation and handling of cryo fluids

ISRO's Cryogenic Upper Stage Project (CUSP) designed the Cryogenic Upper Stage to replace the stage procured from Russia and used in GSLV flights

The main engine and two smaller steering engines of CUS develop a thrust of 73.55 kN in vacuum. CUS fires for a nominal duration of 720 seconds

Liquid oxygen and Liquid hydrogen from the respective tanks are fed by individual booster pumps to the main turbopump to ensure a high flow rate

Thrust control and mixture ratio control are achieved by two regulators. Two gimballed steering engines provide control of the stage

FACT OF THE MATTER

Tighter curbs in Sydney

COVID

A worsening covid outbreak in Sydney has prompted Australia to pull up the drawbridge on the city and its surrounding state by implementing unprecedented travel restrictions. Western Australia became the latest state to impose tighter curbs on travel from NSW and Sydney, which posted a record 390 new infections. Western Australia premier Mark McGowan said from Tuesday travellers will have to secure an exemption to enter his state, provide a negative Covid test, proof of at least one vaccine dose, undergo 14 days home quarantine and install a tracking app. If Sydney's cases go above 500 a day, travellers will have to undergo a 14-day hotel quarantine and exemptions will be limited to a small number of people.

Delta under control: China

COVID

Chinese health officials said on Friday they were bringing the country's worst Covid outbreak in months under control after new infections hit a seven-month high earlier this week. Multiple cluster outbreaks of the contagious Delta variant have spread to 48 cities in 18 provinces nationwide, infecting more than 1,282 people, officials said. However there had been no new infections in many hotspots in recent days owing to stringent virus control measures taken by China, they added. "Of these 48 cities, 36 have not reported any new infections in the past five consecutive days," Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention official He Qinghua told reporters.

US, Israel for Covid booster jabs

COVID

USA on Thursday authorized an extra dose of Covid vaccine for people with weakened immune systems, as the country struggles to thwart the Delta variant. The US FDA said the additional dose was for solid organ transplant recipients or those with equivalent weakened immune systems. US health authorities had been debating whether a third dose may be required, following a similar move by Israel. Meanwhile, Israelis aged 50 and over began receiving booster shots as the Israeli government steps up its drive to stem spiking Delta infections. PM Naftali Bennett said that in the past week, 78 people had died, and 76 of those people were above the age of 60. "None of them managed to get the three doses," said Bennett. The government announced that it was offering third shots to people aged over 50, two weeks after launching a campaign to give the elderly booster jabs.

Addition to endangered gorilla species

CONSERVATION

DR Congo: DR Congo's Kahuzi-Biega National Park is celebrating the birth of an eastern lowland gorilla, one of the world's most endangered species. "We have the pleasure of announcing the birth of a baby to the female Mwinja," the park announced on Facebook on Friday. "Our rangers were there and captured this moment of intimacy, on Saturday August 7. She seemed happy to be showing off her baby. Both are in very good healthy."

The birth is "a sign of hope," the park's spokesman, Hubert Mulongoy, told AFP. The park, located in a deeply troubled part of eastern Democratic Republic of Congo, said the birth brought its tally of the apes from 171 to 172.

Mwinja has already had offspring but this is the first she has had with a well-known male called Nabirembo.

Kahuzi-Biega covers around 6,000 square km of mountains and rainforests near the western banks of Lake Kivu and the Rwandan border. It is a magnet for intrepid eco-tourists, who are drawn to its unique landscape

Amazon shrinking, 10K sq-km lost this yr

NATURE

BRASILIA: Preliminary government data released on Friday indicates annual deforestation in Brazil's Amazon may have surpassed 10,000 square km for the third straight year, continuing a worrisome jump since President Jair Bolsonaro assumed office.

The area deforested from August to July was 8,793 square km, just below last year's record, according to data compiled by the National Institute for Space Research. That data is considered a leading indicator for complete calculations released near year end from the more accurate system, Prodes. It uses at least four different satellites to capture images, addressing oversights in preliminary data caused by lower resolution and cloud cover.

Before Bolsonaro's term began in 2019, the Amazon hadn't recorded a single year with that much deforestation in over a decade and, between 2009 and 2018, the average was 6,500 square km. The president has encouraged development of biome and dismissed global concerns about its destruction as a plot to hold back the nation's agribusiness.

Mammoths, too, were wanderers

HISTORY

WASHINGTON: Walking the equivalent of twice around the world during a life lasting 28 years, one wooly mammoth whose steps have been traced by researchers has proven the huge beast was a long-distance wanderer. The findings, published on Thursday in the prestigious journal Science, could shed light on theories about why the mammoth, whose teeth were bigger than the human fist, became extinct.

"In all popular culture, there are always mammoths who move around a lot," said Clement Bataille, assistant professor at the University of Ottawa and one of the lead authors of the study. But there is no clear reason why mammoths should have trekked great distances.

The researchers were amazed by the results: the mammoth they studied probably walked around 70,000 km. For their study, the researchers selected the tusks of a male woolly mammoth who lived at the end of the last ice age. The animal lived relatively close to the time of the extinction of the species, around 13,000 years ago.

Serbian cave dweller slams jab-hesitant city counterparts

VACCINE

PIROT, Serbia: Almost 20 years ago, Panta Petrovic made social distancing a lifestyle choice when he moved into a tiny Serbian mountain cave to avoid society. Last year, on one of his visits to town, the dreadlocked man with a long beard found out there was a pandemic raging. After vaccines against Covid-19 became available, he got jabbed and urges everyone to do the same.

"It (the virus) does not pick. It will come here, to my cave, too", the 70-year-old told AFP in his cave on the forested Stara Planina mountain in southern Serbia. The cave Petrovic calls home is accessible only by a steep climb that is not for the fainthearted.

It is equipped with an old rusty bathtub which he uses as a toilet, some benches and a stack of hay that serves as a bed. Petrovic hails from the nearby town of Pirot where he worked as a labourer on the black market, as he did abroad for some time. He remarried on multiple occasions, a life he called "hectic".

Always a nature lover, he gradually found out that isolating from society brings him freedom he never tasted before. "I was not free in the city. There is always someone in your way - you either argue with your wife, neighbours, or the police", Petrovic said while peeling vegetables for lunch.

"Here, nobody is hassling me", the man added with a smile, revealing his decaying teeth. Petrovic mostly feeds on mushrooms and fish from the local creek, but also hikes downtown in search of leftover food in the bins.

And his visits to the town have become more regular recently. After wolves slaughtered some of the animals he kept near the cave, Petrovic decided to move them to a shack he assembled on the outskirts of the town where he thought they would be safe.

Petrovic receives welfare, but also relies on donations for food and supplies for the animals. After the vaccines became available, he rolled up his sleeve and got jabbed.

Petrovic said he "doesn't understand the fuss" some vaccine sceptics make, and underlined that he believes in a process that aims to eradicate diseases.

Before isolating, Petrovic donated all the money he had made abroad to the community by funding the construction of three small bridges in the town.

The city offers different strokes for different folks...a multi-cultural environment, safe spaces, the ability to chase dreams. Ahead of Independence Day, Bengalureans share the freedom namma ooru offers

– EXPRESS FEATURES

HUES OF FREEDOM

ILLUSTRATION | SOUMYADIP SINHA

Bengaluru has given me the creative freedom to express myself. In comparison to other cities, Bengaluru has a multicultural environment where one can freely exchange ideas, cultural beliefs, or anything else. For music artistes, it is an untapped goldmine because the city has multiple layers of audience. As far as art is concerned, Bengaluru is always about you and I and not you versus I.

— Arjun Sharma aka Quake, rapper

Bengaluru has given me a comfort zone and allows me to socialise with people from different states. As Bengalureans, we are proud of this culture. The city has given us the freedom to live a western lifestyle with a rich cultural vibrancy. Krishnappa Gowtham, cricketer

I moved to the city almost two decades ago and fell in love with what it has to offer. Today, being an entrepreneur, it's important to me that the city encourages a culture of risk-taking, which is possibly why it is home to most of the successful startups in the country. The freedom to innovate, start ventures and even fail, the city envelopes you with a feeling of a 'can do' attitude.

Deepti Kat, restaurateur

Freedom for me is the desire to dream and hope that those dreams come true. That's exactly what a city like Bengaluru offers youngsters. In addition, it provides an open platform to chase those dreams. Giving wings to one's dream is the biggest freedom that any place can offer.

Abhishek Iyengar, theatre practitioner

From enjoying the nightlife to visiting heritage sites in the city, the place has given unrestricted access to different kinds of places. Safety has never been an issue at any point. The city is far more liberal and accepting when it comes to the way one dresses.

Akshitha Nadella, design student

Being born and brought up in Bengaluru is a gift, which has given me the exposure to diverse cultures – all of which opened my mind to different sets of ideologies. Now, I am far more accepting of many beliefs and cultures. The exposure also gave me the freedom to learn more languages, including Tamil and Tulu. Bengaluru gives the opportunity to express oneself freely, and is by far the most tolerant city in the country.

Aishwarya MR, law student

To me, freedom is about the opportunity to prosper and succeed. Bengaluru is always brimming with energy and opportunities. It's a mini-India in itself with a great mix of people and cultures. It's always evolving, and for someone who is focused on startups, Bengaluru is paradise.

Julaiha J, senior account director

Bengaluru adapts to what you need it to be. I have always had the freedom to be myself even when I didn't know who I am. It's because the city gives you the freedom to be who you want to be at your own pace. Want to get in touch with your roots? No problem. Want to find a new dream? Go for it. No one rushes you. Except maybe the traffic. Yes, the city has its issues. But nowhere else will you find the chill vibes where everyone is saying, "Swalpa adjust maadi!". — Deepika Singhania, content marketer

FIT BIT

MARICHYASANA C

(MARICHI'S POSE C)

In Sanskrit, 'Marichi' means ray of light and 'asana' means pose. It is a seated twist with one leg bent and the other stretched out. It forms part of the primary series in Ashtanga yoga, where the first four variations of Marichyasana A, B, C and D are performed in sequence. It requires and builds flexibility and mobility. It is considered a detoxifying pose as it's particularly beneficial in massaging your liver and kidneys, which both act as filters for the body. Your spine provides it with more mobility and flexibility, it stretches your outer hip and it opens your chest.

STEPS

- Start the pose in a seated position with your legs extended. Keep the spine upright.
- Bend your left knee slowly and steadily. Place your heel very close to your sit-bone in a comfortable position.
- Balance your torso weight evenly, distributed gently between both your sit-bones.
- Bring your left hand to the ground just behind you. Inhale to feel your spine really lengthening.
- Twist to the left side as you normally exhale. Keep your body very close to your leg that is bent.
- Bring your right elbow to the outside of your left knee.
- Look behind, over your left shoulder.
- Remain in that position for nearly five to ten breaths.
- Repeat the same steps on the other side.

BENEFITS

- Massages the abdominal organs.
- Calms the brain and mind.
- Stretches and strengthens shoulders.
- Relieves hip pain and mild backache.
- Strengthens and stretches the spine.
- Gives stamina for the legs and hips.
- Improves digestion, relieves constipation.

LIMITATIONS

- Those suffering from back or spine injuries, high or low BP, migraine, diarrhoea, headache or insomnia, should not practise this.
- Those having any medical concerns, consult a yoga expert. Avoid forcing, pushing, pulling or jerking in your movement.

— by N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

POLITICIAN HD Kumaraswamy, also a well-known producer and distributor, will be bankrolling a project directed by S Narayan. The film will be based on the novel Hejje by National Award winner Vyasaraya Balla.

Confirming the news to CE, S Narayan reveals that the duo was planning to make the film even back in 2005. They also had plans of roping in Kamal Haasan, Aishwarya Rai Bachchan for the lead roles. Girish Karnad and Ambarish Puri were also considered for prominent characters in the film back then when the two legends were alive.

"We had planned to make a pan-Indian film. However, HD Kumaraswamy became the CM of Karnataka, and got busy with his political career," says S Narayan, who has directed three films under HD Kumaraswamy's production banner , Chennambika Films (Suryavamsa, Chandra Chakori, and Galate Aliyandiru) Now, the director is excited to associate with the producer once again after 17 years. "As a team, we both have done well at the box office, and I hope history repeats again," says the director.

> The two are teaming up after 17 years, and this time for a film based on the novel Hejje written by Vyasaraya Ballal

Talking about the details of the project, S Narayan says, "Things are at a very preliminary stage, and we haven't discussed the casting yet. I have a green signal from the producer for this now, and the rest of the things will follow suit. The title and other details will be decided once I have the bound script in hand."

S Narayan says that HD Kumaraswamy's return to cinema as a producer is a good thing for the Kannada industry. "He is a disciplined producer and a project made under his banner will certainly create curiosity amongst the audience," says S Narayan. He also adds that Kumaraswamy being a voracious reader will add value to the film, which will be a novel adaptation.

Meanwhile, S Narayan has wrapped up the shoot of his next project 5D, featuring Aditya and Adhiti Prabhudeva. He will soon start the post-production work of the film.

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

When Lieutenant Vikram Batra gets his first posting in Kashmir and reaches the base, he greets his seniors and juniors with a salute and a smile. That smile never leaves his lips when he speaks to local Kashmiris, with whom he forms a bond not often seen in our films depicting the volatile relationship between the State and the Army. The same smile is plastered on his face when he talks about returning "after hosting the tricolour" or "wrapped up in a tricolour" as he leaves home for the Kargil war front. It is this nature of Vikram Batra that Shershaah decides to train its focus on. Of course, we see his courageous exploits during the war that are now the stuff of legend. Of course, we see his daredevil attitude as he brazenly puts his life at risk to eliminate threats. But it is the emotional moments that ring louder. We know of Vikram Batra, the valourous soldier, through newspapers, interviews, and film adaptations like LOC: Kargil. Now, through Shershaah, we know Vikram Batra, the child, the lover, the friend, and the ever-giving soul.

The story begins with the end. Vikram is on the anvil of sacrificing his life for the country in the process of recapturing Point 4875. But before the inevitable happens, we are taken a decade or so back to be introduced to a cricket-playing kid from Palampur. A fiercely territorial kid, who grows up watching Chetan Anand's celebrated TV series, Param Vir Chakra, and wants to become a fauji. These portions, which are a bit too expository, serve as reasoning for why Vikram never flinches putting himself first in the line of danger. This is followed by an insight into his acclimatisation in Kashmir and from there a small detour back to his love story with Dimple (an impressive Kiara Advani). The writer, Sandeep Shrivastava, employs a decent strategy in retelling a story repeated many times on our screen. By giving us glimpses of what we know about the soldier, and alternating it with newer perspectives of the man beneath the uniform, Shershaah definitely keeps us invested.

SHERSHAAH

Cast: Sidharth Malhotra, Kiara Advani, Shiv Pandit, Sahil Vaid

Director: Vishnu Varadhan

Streaming on: Amazon Prime Video

In Shershaah, the filmmakers have given equal, if not more, attention to both the war and Vikram's life events. The latter takes precedence and we are left with a rather surface-level exploration of the war. Not that it is a bad choice considering the overdose of chest-thumping jingoism we have now come to connect with this genre. Compared to a bunch of other recent films, Shershaah seems far mellowed down when dealing with the war. So much so that the final hurrah feels more like a dedication to Vikram rather than winning a war. But that's what happens when you have a character like Captain Vikram Batra at the centre of things.

Shershaah is almost a deification of Vikram, and Sidharth plays the role with utmost sincerity. One drawback of this incessant spotlight around Vikram is the supporting characters not really being given the space to shine. Apart from Dimple, most of the others feel underserved in Shershaah. Especially Vikram's twin brother, Vishal, whose character arc felt so all over the place. While I understand what they were going for, that whole arc never really made sense. Casting competent actors for almost every role in the film helps establish the characters in just a scene or two. When the curtains are brought down on Shershaah with the song, Kabhi Tumhe, I welled up. Did the tears stream because of the stirring lyrics by Rashmi Virag or the voice of Darshan Raval, or the visuals of Vikram's family and friends breaking down at Vikram's death, or the usually stoic soldiers letting their guards down to shed more than just a tear or two for their fallen comrade? At that moment, Shershaah came together as a wholesome film on a much-celebrated soldier. When one tries to make a grounded film on an exuberant soldier, there are bound to be a few missteps, and Shershaah is guilty of it too. But, like the climactic sequence, when things fall into place, Shershaah soars high enough to do justice to the life of a person who really was the lion among lions.

Sandra Bullock replaces Lady Gaga in Bullet Train

CE FEATURES

Sandra Bullock has replaced Lady Gaga in Brad Pitt's upcoming action-thriller Bullet Train.

It was reported last year that Lady Gaga would be playing a crucial role in the film. Bullet Train follows a group of assassins who get on the same train, each tasked with a different mission. The delay in the production due to the pandmic has resulted in the clash of Lady Gaga's call sheet as she is currently prepping for Ridley Scott's House of Gucci, which began shooting in March in Italy.

So she had to be replaced by Bullock, to play Maria Beetle, Pitt's handler in the film, which is based on K tar Isaka's novel Maria B toru .
